Insurance Renege Fought

LANSING (AP)— State Insurance Commissioner David Dykhouse today asked all companies doing business in Michigan to declare a moratorium on cancellation and nonrenewal of property insurance.

Dykhouse said the moratorium will be effective immediately and will remain in effect until a pooling plan to cover high risk property is in operation.

The pooling plan was intended to cover property in high risk areas such as those that have been hit by riots or are considered potential riot areas.

The state insurance commissioner also announced that the Royal-Globe Insurance Companies, a major insurer, have agreed to extend the termination dates on policies recently cancelled in Detroit until the pooling plan is in operation.

Those customers whose policies have been canceled by any one of the Royal-Globe companies and who have been unable to obtain other insurance will be assured of coverage for the present time, Dykhouse said.

"The property insurance market has become increasingly constricted in the urban areas of Michigan," Dykhouse said.

Dykhouse said there have been some 1,300 property insurance cancellations in the Detroit area since last August. Of these, he said, about 460 were by Royal-Globe and about 400 of their total, all on commercial properties, had been cancelled just recently.

Royal-Globe, as a major insurer, thus accounted for about one-third of the cancellations, he said.

Strikes Peril Conventions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Both national political conventions, the first just three weeks off, are threatened with new communications woes that could affect network television and broadcasting.

Planning for the Democratic convention, scheduled for Chicago Aug. 26, already is feeling the impact of a strike against Illinois Bell Telephone Co.

Party leaders say they may have to pick another city, possibly Miami Beach, site of the Republican meeting that opens Aug. 5.

The new threat, which could affect not only Chicago and Miami Beach but any city big enough to handle a political convention, came to light Monday.

American Telephone & Telegraph Co. warned a customer of the possibility of a strike by 24,000 long lines installers who are members of the Communications Workers of America, a union spokesman said.

Such a strike could affect TV and radio facilities and teletype equipment, including that used by news services.

The installers have been negotiating with AT&T for five weeks on a wage reopener clause in the three-year contract that expires in 1970.

Negotiations in New York are being held on a day-to-day basis and there is no strike deadline at the moment.

A union spokesman said there has been no progress, despite the presence of a federal mediator.

Industrywide, communications workers averaged $3.61 an hour in wages and fringe benefits before a recent contract settlement covering most employes in the Bell System. The spokesman estimated the value of that settlement at 19.58 per cent and said the long lines workers, who average slightly more, are not about to settle for less.

Reagan Swing Is Against Wallace

By The Associated Press

California Gov. Ronald Reagan says his swing through the South beginning this week will be aimed against what some Republicans consider a growing threat from former Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace.

Third party presidential candidate Wallace has been showing increasing strength in public opinion polls and Reagan said Monday that Alabama Republicans in particular were concerned about speculation Wallace "might eat into Republican votes.

"Very frankly," Reagan said in Sacramento, "the Republicans asked me because of the strength of Gov. Wallace. He is going to change the balance, possibly."

The South also is considered Reagan's greatest source of presidential strength outside California. The governor says he is not a presidential contender but as a favorite-son candidate could become one at the GOP National Convention next month in Miami Beach.

Reagan leaves Thursday for GOP fund-raising appearances in Texas, Arkansas, Virginia, North Carolina, and Alabama.

The Harris Survey released Monday showed Wallace favored by 15 per cent of the voters, and taking twice as many votes from Republican candidates as from Democrats.

Pollster Louis Harris said in a copyright Washington Post story half Wallace's strength is in the South.

The Gallup Poll reported Sunday that Wallace shows 16 per cent voter support, and said that was nearly twice the strength he showed in April.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, announced GOP contender, said meanwhile his nationwide poll to indicate whether he or Richard M. Nixon would be the strongest Republican candidate will be conducted July 22-26.

Nixon's camp, reflecting optimism he will win the GOP nomination, Monday urged newsmen who would follow Nixon after the convention to sign up now so transportation and accommodations can be arranged.

On the Democratic side, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey renewed his support of the Johnson administration proposal for a lottery military draft system that would call up the youngest age groups first.

"This method," Humphrey said in a statement, "would give young men an early and clear indication of the likelihood of their being called to military service and, since it would call the youngest first, it would reduce the uncertainty in the planning of careers and futures."

Firearms Take Lives Of 192

By The Associated Press

Deaths by firearms totaled 192 across the nation last week, an Associated Press survey showed, and more than 80 per cent resulted from the deliberate firing of a handgun, shotgun or rifle.

One of the dead was a Fort Lauderdale, Fla., housewife, Mrs. Carolyn White, shot during an argument with her husband. She didn't want him to bring a rifle into the house.

The survey showed 121 homicides, 40 suicides and 31 accidental shootings in the week from midnight Sunday, July 7, to midnight Sunday, July 14.

The homicide total compared with a weekly average of 125 reported by the FBI in 1966, the last year for which figures were available.

Today's Session Canceled

Senate Leaders Push For Fortas

WASHINGTON (AP)—Justice Abe Fortas told the Senate Judiciary Committee today he participated in White House meetings on the Vietnam War and on riots in the cities.

But he insisted his role was only to summarize for the President what others said in the sessions.

The justice, testifying on his nomination to be chief justice of the United States, said he was consulted on very few matters and that they have not been matters on which he could claim he was an expert.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate session was canceled for today in a leadership move to blunt opponents' delaying tactics and insure uninterrupted questioning by the Judiciary Committee of chief justice-designate Abe Fortas.

But President Johnson's nominee still faced long and close scrutiny at today's committee hearing, put off from last week, particularly on high court decisions he has participated in since becoming an associate justice in 1965.

The hearing last week was postponed when Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., asked for more time to review those decisions.

Ervin became the first Southern Democrat to flatly oppose Fortas' nomination, saying Earl Warren's undated retirement letter to Johnson creates no vacancy to be filled.

Ervin also was the chief sponsor of a section of the omnibus crime control bill intended to overturn decisions protecting the rights of criminals—rulings in which Fortas sided with the majority.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, both supporters of the nomination of Fortas and of Homer Thornberry to replace him as an associate justice, announced canceling of today's Senate session.

Cutting out today's session prevents Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., from carrying out his threat to keep the committee from sitting while the Senate is in session.

Sen. Robert P. Griffin of Michigan, spearheading the Republican opposition, said Monday he doubts the committee will report to the Senate until a week before Aug. 3, target date for adjournment of Congress.

Griffin claimed more than enough votes to prevent a Senate filibuster against confirmation from being shut off before Congress adjourns.

Sen. Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia, secretary of the Senate Democratic conference and third-ranking party leader, said Monday he is opposed to the elevation of Fortas to chief justice.

He took no position on the nomination of Thornberry, a former Texas congressman who now is a judge on the 5th U.S. Court of Appeals in New Orleans.

He was the second member of the Senate Democratic leadership to oppose Fortas' confirmation. Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana, the assistant Democratic leader, said over the weekend he would vote against confirmation.

Paris Peace Talks Entering Secret Inquiry

PARIS (AP) — The United States and North Vietnam apparently have reached a point in the Paris peace talks where they can sound each other out secretly on possible arrangements to de-escalate the war in Vietnam.

Both now agree publicly that their delegation leaders have touched on "serious" issues in their private conversations during the coffee breaks in their formal sessions. In addition, the diplomatic channels used for communications between Washington and Hanoi in past peace probing are obviously still open and presumably in use.

Deadlocks Persists

The formal exchanges between Ambassadors W. Averell Harriman and Xuan Thuy in their regular Wednesday meetings continue deadlocked and repetitious, mainly serving the propaganda purposes of both sides. But their informal contacts have gone beyond that rigid pattern, allowing a more flexible exporation of peace possibilities.

There is also some indication that leaders in Washington and Hanoi are engaged in policy reviews.

Ambassador Cyrus R. Vance is flying to Washington today for consultations with President Johnson before Johnson goes to Honolulu to confer with President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam.

On the North Vietnamese side, Le Duc Tho, special counsellor to Thuy, has been in Hanoi for about two weeks. He is a member of the North Vietnamese Communist party's policy-making politburo.

Bombing Issue

The deadlock over de-escalating the war arises from Hanoi's demand that the United States stop all bombing of its territory, and Washington's demand that North Vietnam show some military "restraint" to justify ending the bombing. North Vietnam has said since before the talks started on May 13 that until the bombing is stopped no other issue of Vietnamese peacemaking can be discussed.

Exactly what President Johnson would consider a minimum adequate show of "restraint" on North Vietnam's part has not been spelled out. Harriman has proposed to Thuy a restoration of the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam and has also called for a reduction in infiltration from North to South.

Evidently either action would be acceptable to Johnson as a basis for ending the rest of the bombing of the North. But some other action might also meet his requirement.

Traffic Delays Moscow Flights

MOSCOW (AP) — Landing of a special VIP flight of Pan American World Airways here today rounded out the first exchange in the inauguration of commercial air service between Moscow and New York.

The Soviet government airline, landed an Ilyushin 62 jet Aeroflot, at New York Monday in the inaugural east-west flight. Congestion in New York's air traffic delayed both flights.

The special Pan American flight, after a late takeoff from New York, touched down here in mild, sunny weather at 2:43 p.m. With a stopover in Copenhagen, the Boeing 707 jetliner covered the 4,668 miles in 11 hours, 20 minutes.

Fighting South Of Saigon Is Livelier Today

SAIGON (AP) — The ground war picked up south of Saigon Monday and today, with 192 of the enemy reported killed. But a senior U.S. officer said large enemy units had moved westward from the Saigon area, and the next big Viet Cong offensive against the South Vietnamese capital is not likely before late July or early August.

The American source warned that despite the enemy withdrawals, the Viet Cong still plans to attack Saigon. Da Nang and Hue, the two major cities in the northern part of the country, also were considered likely targets for a general Communist offensive.

Tangle With Enemy

After a prolonged lull in the ground war, infantrymen from the U.S. 9th Division—protecting the southern approaches to Saigon tangled with an enemy force Monday 16 miles south-southeast of the capital. The battle raged until just before dawn today, and the American Command sent in divebombers, artillery and helicopter gunships to pound the enemy.

U.S. headquarters said 76 Viet Cong troops were slain and 12 weapons captured, including six mortars. U.S. losses were seven killed and 21 wounded.

Forty miles farther south, U.S. and South Vietnamese ground, naval and air forces caught sizable Viet Cong units pressing in on a provincial capital in the Mekong Delta and reported killing 116 of the enemy in an all-day battle Monday. Seventeen Americans and two South Vietnamese were wounded, spokesmen said.

Casualties Down

As many as 1,000 infantrymen of the U.S. 9th Division plus more than 1,000 South Vietnamese troops boxed the enemy in near Phu Vinh. U.S. Air Force dive bombers and Army helicopter gunships pounded the guerrillas, and South Vietnamese troops said they counted 61 enemy soldiers killed by the air strikes alone.

The month-long absence of sustained battle was reflected in a casualty report for last week issued by South Vietnamese headquarters. The government said allied forces killed 836 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops, the lowest weekly toll of the enemy claimed since the first week of 1967, when 626 were reported killed.

The number of South Vietnamese reported killed —157— was the lowest in four and a half months.

American casualties for last week will be reported on Thursday.

Reappraisal Of County Subject Of Tax Protest

ST. JOSEPH (AP) — Chairman of a group of taxpayers in St. Joseph says the group expects a full investigation by the state Attorney General's office in the near future regarding a county property reevaluation program.

Matthew Shumacher of White Pigeon, chairman of the St. Joseph's Taxpayers Association, says the probe is necessary because of taxpayers' complaints over the reevaluation of property in St. Joseph County by the James R. Laird Corp. of Appleton, Wis.

Cheap Coinage Makes Millions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government has been raking in huge profits from the nation's coinage since it replaced silver with copper and nickel in hard currency.

This profit, called seigniorage, shot into the hundreds of millions of dollars the past three years. It is expected to exceed $200 million in the current fiscal year.

Seigniorage is the difference between the face value of a coin and the cost of the metal from which it is made.

Metal in a quarter, for example, now costs the Treasury Department about one cent but the coin goes on the government's books as 25 cents, thus yielding a 24-cent profit.

During the fiscal year which ended last June 30, seigniorage ran to about $380 million but it rose above $834 million the year before when the Treasury turned out coins in record numbers to overcome a shortage.

The reduced profit expected for this year results from the cutback in the number of coins made because the shortage has eased.

The windfall profits began with the Coinage Act of 1965 which took all silver from dimes and quarters and reduced the silver content of the half dollar from 90 per cent to 40 per cent.

This reduced the cost of coinage metal to the Treasury.

In the past, profits from coinage went into the government's books as added revenue just like tax collections.

Now it is figured as a means of financing the federal deficit under the new unified budget which went into effect last January.

Hughes Gains In ABC Purchase

NEW YORK (AP) — Howard Hughes has won another round in his battle to buy 43 per cent of the stock in the American Broadcasting Companies, Inc. But the outcome of the transaction remains in doubt.

The U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals refused Monday to enjoin the sale of two million shares of ABC stock to Hughes. It upheld an earlier ruling by a district court judge.

The financier offered, two weeks ago, through his wholly owned Hughes Tool Co., to buy the stock, then selling at $58.87 a share, for $74.25 a share. He set a deadline of 3 p.m. Monday on the tender offer, telling holders of ABC stock in effect, that if they wanted to accept his offer to buy, they had to do it before then.

The ruling came less than two hours before the deadline.

It was not known how much of the stock Hughes obtained. However, sources close to the multimillionaire said the stock had been coming in "pretty good." His agents said Monday afternoon that no decision had been reached on whether to extend the deadline.

Seaway Traffic Creates Chaos

SARNIA, Ont. (AP) — Marine officials at Sarnia said today that Seaway traffic situation at Sarnia and Port Huron, is in a state of chaos.

They said crews and pilots are returning from various points, and operations personnel have been busy locating and scheduling vessels since the Seaway strike ended Sunday. Several ships were due to move out today.

Guard Praised For Training

GRAYLING (AP)—Maj. Gen. Francis S. Greenlief, deputy chief National Guard Bureau in Washington reported Monday that the Guard is becoming increasingly involved in community action.

Greenlief, who toured Camp Grayling Monday, said, "The Guard is more closely involved in community action than ever before and I am glad to see it.

"The Guard reflects the community from which it comes and they are involved in those community affairs," he added.

Greenlief said he was impressed with training facilities here and the training which the Michigan Guard has undergone so far.

Willard Hotel Closes Doors

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Willard Hotel, where presidents from Franklin Pierce to Warren G. Harding slept and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" was composed, has closed its doors after more than a century's association with the nation's history.

Located on 14th and Pennsylvania Avenue, less than two blocks from the White House, the Willard survived as an institution the wear and tear of the Civil War, conventions and depressions since the first building went up about 1850. The original hotel was torn down in 1901 and the current structure replaced it that year.

But the Willard couldn't fight 20th Century economics and the prospect of urban renewal and its managers shut down the establishment last midnight.

The hotel's owners, the 1401 Realty Corp., and Howill Corp., both of New York, were not available for comment, but spokesmen in Washington acknowledged that financial difficulty for the past year-and-a-half finally resulted in shutting down the operation.

Other reasons for closing the Willard were offered as the April riots, the Poor People's Campaign—both of which were blamed by commerce leaders for damaging business—and the threat of condemnation to make way for a national square.

Russia Warns On Socialism Without Her

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Reform-minded Czechoslovaks fired "2,000 words" into the ideological ramparts of the Communist world and evidently provoked a serious crisis in Soviet-dominated Eastern Europe.

Meeting in Poland, Communist leaders of the Soviet Union and four other countries on Monday drew up a "common letter" to Czechoslovakia. This has the ring of ultimatum. It suggests Big Brother is watching Czechoslovakia closely and will go to lengths to slow down, if not snuff out completely, the attempt to liberalize the Communist system there.

The "2,000 words" from Prague was a searing indictment of Communist rule in Czechoslovakia over the past 20 years. Published in the Prague newspaper Mlada Fronta June 27, it seems to have badly shaken other ruling European Communists.

Being Subverted

Those leaders, led by Leonid I. Brezhnev of the Soviet party, are telling Czechoslovak party chiefs they are being subverted by "imperialist" influences and, by the example being set in Czechoslovakia, they are permitting the leading role of Communist parties everywhere to be endangered. Brezhnev indicates he will not put up with this. Perhaps he has it in his power to exert pressures which eventually will bring back to authority the "conservative" hard-line Communists now discredited in Czechoslovakia.

What was in those "2,000 words" to worry Brezhnev so much?

Czech Manifesto

The broadside was entitled "2,000 words to workers, farmers, civil servants, scientists, artists and everyone." It was written by Ludvik Vaculik, a Czechoslovak author, and signed by 70 leading scientists and intellectuals. After its publication, tens of thousands of Czechoslovaks rushed to endorse it.

The statement said after the Communists took over in 1948, the direction of Czechoslovakia "got into the hands of the wrong people."

"It would not have mattered so much that they did not have sufficient statesmanlike experience, practical knowledge or philosophical education, if they had at least possessed more common sense and decency," it said.

Betrayed Trust

After World War II, it went on, the Communist party "possessed the great trust of the people" but "gradually exchanged this trust for offices until it had all offices and nothing else."

The party changed "from an ideological alliance into a power organization which became very attractive also to egotists avid for rule, calculating cowards and unprincipled people."

Democracy Defeated

"Personal and collective honor declined. Honesty led nowhere, and it was useless to speak of any appreciation for ability. Therefore, most people lost interest in public affairs. . .

"We are all responsible for the present state of affairs. The greater responsibility rests with the Communists among us. The main responsibility, however, rests with those who were com-

The deadlock over de-escalating the war arises from Hanoi's demand that the United States stop all bombing of its territory, and Washington's demand that North Vietnam show some military "restraint" to justify ending the bombing. North Vietnam has said since before the talks started on May 13 that until the bombing is stopped no other issue of Vietnamese peacemaking can be discussed.

Exactly what President Johnson would consider a minimum adequate show of "restraint" on North Vietnam's part has not been spelled out. Harriman has proposed to Thuy a restoration of the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam and has also called for a reduction in infiltration from North to South.

Evidently either action would be acceptable to Johnson as a basis for ending the rest of the bombing of the North. But some other action might also meet his requirement.

Traffic Delays Moscow Flights

The Soviet government airline, landed an Ilyushin 62 jet Aeroflot, at New York Monday in the inaugural east-west flight. Congestion in New York's air traffic delayed both flights.

The special Pan American flight, after a late takeoff from New York, touched down here in mild, sunny weather at 2:43 p.m. With a stopover in Copenhagen, the Boeing 707 jetliner covered the 4,662 miles in 11 hours, 20 minutes.

Fighting South Of Saigon Is Livelier Today

SAIGON (AP) — The ground war picked up south of Saigon Monday and today, with 192 of the enemy reported killed. But a senior U.S. officer said large enemy units had moved westward from the Saigon area, and the next big Viet Cong offensive against the South Vietnamese capital is not likely before late July or early August.

The American source warned that despite the enemy withdrawals, the Viet Cong still plans to attack Saigon. Da Nang and Hue, the two major cities in the northern part of the country, also were considered likely targets for a general Communist offensive.

Tangle With Enemy

After a prolonged lull in the ground war, infantrymen from the U.S. 9th Division—protecting the southern approaches to Saigon tangled with an enemy force Monday 16 miles south-southeast of the capital. The battle raged until just before dawn today, and the American Command sent in divebombers, artillery and helicopter gunships to pound the enemy.

U.S. headquarters said 76 Viet Cong troops were slain and 12 weapons captured, including six mortars. U.S. losses were seven killed and 21 wounded.

Forty miles farther south, U.S. and South Vietnamese ground, naval and air forces caught sizable Viet Cong units pressing in on a provincial capital in the Mekong Delta and reported killing 116 of the enemy in an all-day battle Monday. Seventeen Americans and two South Vietnamese were wounded, spokesmen said.

Casualties Down

As many as 1,000 infantrymen of the U.S. 9th Division plus more than 1,000 South Vietnamese troops boxed the enemy in near Phu Vinh. U.S. Air Force dive bombers and Army helicopter gunships pounded the guerrillas, and South Vietnamese troops said they counted 61 enemy soldiers killed by the air strikes alone.

The month-long absence of sustained battle was reflected in a casualty report for last week issued by South Vietnamese headquarters. The government said allied forces killed 836 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops, the lowest weekly toll of the enemy claimed since the first week of 1967, when 626 were reported killed.

The number of South Vietnamese reported killed —157— was the lowest in four and a half months.

American casualties for last week will be reported on Thursday.

Reappraisal Of County Subject Of Tax Protest

ST. JOSEPH (AP) — Chairman of a group of taxpayers in St. Joseph says the group expects a full investigation by the state Attorney General's office in the near future regarding a county property reevaluation program.

Matthew Shumacher of White Pigeon, chairman of the St. Joseph's Taxpayers Association, says the probe is necessary because of taxpayers' complaints over the reevaluation of property in St. Joseph County by the James R. Laird Corp. of Appleton, Wis.

Cheap Coinage Makes Millions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government has been raking in huge profits from the nation's coinage since it replaced silver with copper and nickel in hard currency.

This profit, called seigniorage, shot into the hundreds of millions of dollars the past three years. It is expected to exceed $200 million in the current fiscal year.

Seigniorage is the difference between the face value of a coin and the cost of the metal from which it is made.

Metal in a quarter, for example, now costs the Treasury Department about one cent but the coin goes on the government's books as 25 cents, thus yielding a 24-cent profit.

During the fiscal year which ended last June 30, seigniorage ran to about $380 million but it rose above $834 million the year before when the Treasury turned out coins in record numbers to overcome a shortage.

The reduced profit expected for this year results from the cutback in the number of coins made because the shortage has eased.

The windfall profits began with the Coinage Act of 1965 which took all silver from dimes and quarters and reduced the silver content of the half dollar from 90 per cent to 40 per cent.

This reduced the cost of coinage metal to the Treasury.

In the past, profits from coinage went into the government's books as added revenue just like tax collections.

Now it is figured as a means of financing the federal deficit under the new unified budget which went into effect last January.

Hughes Gains In ABC Purchase

NEW YORK (AP) — Howard Hughes has won another round in his battle to buy 43 per cent of the stock in the American Broadcasting Companies, Inc. But the outcome of the transaction remains in doubt.

The U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals refused Monday to enjoin the sale of two million shares of ABC stock to Hughes. It upheld an earlier ruling by a district court judge.

The financier offered, two weeks ago, through his wholly owned Hughes Tool Co., to buy the stock, then selling at $58.87 a share, for $74.25 a share. He set a deadline of 3 p.m. Monday on the tender offer, telling holders of ABC stock in effect, that if they wanted to accept his offer to buy, they had to do it before then.

The ruling came less than two hours before the deadline.

It was not known how much of the stock Hughes obtained. However, sources close to the multimillionaire said the stock had been coming in "pretty good." His agents said Monday afternoon that no decision had been reached on whether to extend the deadline.

"The Guard reflects the community from which it comes and they are involved in those community affairs," he added.

Greenlief said he was impressed with training facilities here and the training which the Michigan Guard has undergone so far.

Willard Hotel Closes Doors

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Willard Hotel, where presidents from Franklin Pierce to Warren G. Harding slept and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" was composed, has closed its doors after more than a century's association with the nation's history.

Located on 14th and Pennsylvania Avenue, less than two blocks from the White House, the Willard survived as an institution the wear and tear of the Civil War, conventions and depressions since the first building went up about 1850. The original hotel was torn down in 1901 and the current structure replaced it that year.

But the Willard couldn't fight 20th Century economics and the prospect of urban renewal and its managers shut down the establishment last midnight.

The hotel's owners, the 1401 Realty Corp., and Howill Corp., both of New York, were not available for comment, but spokesmen in Washington acknowledged that financial difficulty for the past year-and-a-half finally resulted in shutting down the operation.

Other reasons for closing the Willard were offered as the April riots, the Poor People's Campaign—both of which were blamed by commerce leaders for damaging business—and the threat of condemnation to make way for a national square.

Russia Warns On Socialism Without Her

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Reform-minded Czechosslovaks fired "2,000 words" into the ideological ramparts of the Communist world and evidently provoked a serious crisis in Soviet-dominated Eastern Europe.

Meeting in Poland, Communist leaders of the Soviet Union and four other countries on Monday drew up a "common letter" to Czechoslovakia. This has the ring of ultimatum. It suggests Big Brother is watching Czechoslovakia closely and will go to lengths to slow down, if not snuff out completely, the attempt to liberalize the Communist system there.

The "2,000 words" from Prague was a searing indictment of Communist rule in Czechoslovakia over the past 20 years. Published in the Prague newspaper Mlada Fronta June 27, it seems to have badly shaken other ruling European Communists.

Being Subverted

Those leaders, led by Leonid I. Brezhnev of the Soviet party, are telling Czechoslovak party chiefs they are being subverted by "imperialist" influences and, by the example being set in Czechoslovakia, they are permitting the leading role of Communist parties everywhere to be endangered. Brezhnev indicates he will not put up with this. Perhaps he has it in his power to exert pressures which eventually will bring back to authority the "conservative" hard-line Communists now discredited in Czechoslovakia.

What was in those "2,000 words" to worry Brezhnev so much?

Czech Manifesto

The broadside was entitled "2,000 words to workers, farmers, civil servants, scientists, artists and everyone." It was written by Ludvik Vaculik, a Czechoslovak author, and signed by 70 leading scientists and intellectuals. After its publication, tens of thousands of Czechoslovaks rushed to endorse it.

The statement said after the Communists took over in 1948, the direction of Czechoslovakia "got into the hands of the wrong people."

"It would not have mattered so much that they did not have sufficient statesmanlike experience, practical knowledge or philosophical education, if they had at least possessed more common sense and decency," it said.

Betrayed Trust

After World War II, it went on, the Communist party "possessed the great trust of the people" but "gradually exchanged this trust for offices until it had all offices and nothing else."

The party changed "from an ideological alliance into a power organization which became very attractive also to egotists avid for rule, calculating cowards and unprincipled people."

Democracy Defeated

"Personal and collective honor declined. Honesty led nowhere, and it was useless to speak of any appreciation for ability. Therefore, most people lost interest in public affairs. . .

"We are all responsible for the present state of affairs. The greater responsibility rests with the Communists among us. The main responsibility, however, rests with those who were com-

Harnischfeger Sees $50 Million Output

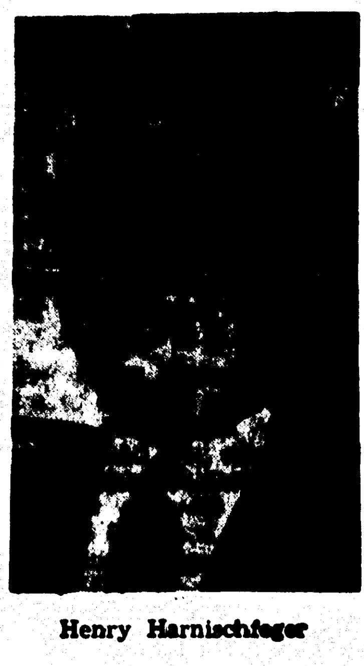
By JEAN WORTH

Henry Harnischfeger, president of the Harnischfeger Corp., addressed management and supervisor personnel of the company's Escanaba operations Monday morning in preparation for back-to-work schedules after a 12 week strike here.

Operations were to start today, following Sunday's ratification of an agreement on wages by Local 632 of the United Auto Workers and Harnischfeger said that it was hoped that full operations could be resumed by next Monday.



Henry Harnischfeger

Harnischfeger said that the strike had been under intensive study by the company. "We took it on the nose," he said. He estimated the loss to the company from the strike at $2 million.

Sharing Process

The lesson that the strike taught the company, he said was need for:

1. Better management.
2. Better training of employes.

$50 Million

President Henry Harnischfeger of Harnischfeger Corp., said as the company's local factories resumed operations today that "I'm hoping for a $50 million deal here. These plants ought to be able to knock out $50 million worth of work a year. But responsibility as well as opportunity goes along with such volume."

In its biggest year here Harnischfeger hit $22 million. Its truck crane plant is half way through an expansion program which will double its size and modernize its production flow. The construction, halted 12 weeks by the strike, is being resumed.

Harnischfeger expressed more concern over non-participation in union control than over any other element of the problem. Of the union local's membership of over 900, 300 did not vote; 250 didn't attend the ratification meeting and another 50 who attended didn't vote. "The guy who should represent stability must participate if we're going to be successful," said Harnischfeger.

On Participation

"Employes," he said "if they are going to cast their lot with us, should be as vitally interested in their jobs as I am. Job security is only possible through the collective participation of employes in successful operations.

"The employes are bound to participate—in wages, in pride of products, in community benefits and all other things—if there's a successful operation.

Thanks City

"Quality is never built into a product at the end of the assembly line, it's built in all the way along by the employes and it's the best salesman that any industry has. In our business we've got to live on repeat orders. A salesman may sell a customer once or twice but after that it's quality that sells our machines and our employes build it into them.

"Harnischfeger Corp. owes the Escanaba Area a debt of gratitude. The corporation is not discouraged about what it ran into (in the strike) as it relates to the community. The cooperation has been more than gratifying. The City of Escanaba and the banks advanced $1.6 million in loans and consolidated old obligations (to help finance the current Harnischfeger truck crane plant expansion here).

"We're Citizens"

"Without this kind of enthusiasm and help we wouldn't have gone as far as we have. But we're here; we're citizens of the community and we've got to help build the community. We're not free riders nor free loaders. By the same token, we are all involved.

"The success or failure of an operation like ours is based on skilled help. Harnischfeger needs, as a basic commodity for its success, good raw materials. There is nothing the matter with the people of the Upper Peninsula, but we've got to train them better.

Heavy Job Rush

"We will furnish the instructional talent and we'll furnish the hardware, but we don't by any means suggest that it should be a Harnischfeger school. We couldn't take all its graduates. It should be an Escanaba Area or an Upper Peninsula School and we would hope that other industries would be interested and certainly organized labor should participate in it.

"It would be worth more than any tax incentive to get industry to locate in the Upper Peninsula. We get high school graduates and a way must be found to develop job schooling for them and we're willing to contribute. (Harnischfeger had a very heavy job rush after the strike settlement Monday.)

"Before the strike gets too far into the past we'd like to sit down and see what can be done, not only for Escanaba and now, but for the Upper Peninsula and the future. The new contract has a 12 month opening clause on incentives and we made it that way. Harnischfeger is going to take a hard look, too!

"I don't 'buy it' that incentives are a big bugaboo, but I think that we must be reasonably sure that employes are going to make it (more than 100 per cent of job rating in pay) before we put them in the trenches.

Incentive Issue

"Our (incentive) rates are standard—right out of the book and we didn't write the book. These rates (for job performance) are accepted all over the United States. But we have taken in some new workers and put them on standards after a year or a year and a half and they don't buy it because they can't cut the standards. Our experience has shown that it takes about 9 years to make a good machinist, welder or assembler on Escanaba standards.

"We can't afford to give it away, because the worker wouldn't have a job here 5 years from now if we did. But we have got to do a better job, especially in the skilled category."

"Going To Make It"

Harnischfeger said that all responsibility didn't rest with the workers, that products must be well engineered to be successful and he said that the company is also buying better equipment for production. "It will require fewer changes (for production of parts), but it is more sophisticated and needs more operating skills."

Sales volume is off, he said in both product lines manufactured in Escanaba by Harnischfeger, truck cranes and welding machines, and the nearly $3 million of wage and fringe benefits pose profit problems, but "I'm not willing to sell the United States short. We are going to make it. The country has got things going for it, but we've got to get some leadership; got to have guts and spirit. The rest of the world looks to us for leadership."

Great Lakes Compact Signed By President

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House passed and sent to the White House Monday a bill approving a Great Lakes basin compact.

The compact creates the Great Lakes Commission as an agency of the compacting states. It is composed of three to five commissioners from each state.

It empowers the commission to make recommendations on the development, use and conservation of the water resources of the Great Lakes basin.

U.P. Milk Order Being Proposed

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has recommended the amendment of federal milk marketing orders to increase fluid milk prices to dairy farmers under 18 orders.

USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service officials said this recommended decision is based on public hearings held June 25 and 26 in Minneapolis and Cleveland. The proposed increases have been put into effect temporarily during July by USDA suspension action June 28, pending the outcome of the hearings. The hearings were held at the request of dairy farmers who asked for the increases to maintain price alignment of the orders with the new Chicago regional order which took effect July 1.

The proposed increases amount to 24 cents a hundredweight in the Central Illinois, St. Louis, Mo., Quad Cities-Dubuque (Ill.-Ia), Cedar Rapids-Iowa City, North Central Iowa, Des Moines, Minneapolis-St. Paul, and Michigan Upper Peninsula orders.

Storm Causes L'Anse Flood

L'ANSE (AP)—State Police at the Marquette post report heavy flooding in the Upper Peninsula village of L'Anse Monday night. The entire community of 2,397 was under four to five feet of water as a result of a severe storm, police said.

U.S. 41 and other highways and roads have been washed out and telephone communications as well as electrical power were knocked out by the rising water.

No serious injuries have been reported as a result of the flooding.

The Baraga County Water Board has advised all persons in the area not to drink any tap water for the next two days.

L'Anse is located at the southern end of Keweenaw Bay.

Portions of the hamlet were flooded last month when a rare occurance called a seiche — a type of inland tidal wave — rolled into the Keweenaw Bay.

North Central Buys 5 Jets

North Central Airlines announced today the exercise of its options on five more DC-9 fan jets from McDonnell Douglas Corp., according to Hal N. Carr, chairman of the Board.

The additional DC-9's will be financed under an agreement with Systems Capital Aircraft, Inc., a subsidiary of Systems Capital Corp., of Philadelphia. The aircraft will be delivered at the rate of one monthly between May and September of 1969. North Central currently operates 10 of the 100-passenger DC-9 fan jets.

North Central has applications pending before the Civil Aeronautics Board for 14,000 additional miles. If approved, these would extend the airline's system north to Winnipeg; west to Denver; south to St. Louis, Louisville, and Charlotte, North Carolina; and east to Boston, New York/Newark, Philadelphia and Washington/Baltimore.

Carr emphasized the mechanical reliability of the Douglas fan jet which, he stated, "has been outstanding."

"Going To Make It"

Harnischfeger said that all responsibility didn't rest with the workers, that products must be well engineered to be successful and he said that the company is also buying better equipment for production. "It will require fewer changes (for production of parts), but it is more sophisticated and needs more operating skills."

Sales volume is off, he said in both product lines manufactured in Escanaba by Harnischfeger, truck cranes and welding machines, and the nearly $3 million of wage and fringe benefits pose profit problems, but "I'm not willing to sell the United States short. We are going to make it. The country has got things going for it, but we've got to get some leadership; got to have guts and spirit. The rest of the world looks to us for leadership."

$50 Million

President Henry Harnischfeger of Harnischfeger Corp., said as the company's local factories resumed operations today that "I'm hoping for a $50 million deal here. These plants ought to be able to knock out $50 million worth of work a year. But responsibility as well as opportunity goes along with such volume."

In its biggest year here Harnischfeger hit $22 million. Its truck crane plant is half way through an expansion program which will double its size and modernize its production flow. The construction, halted 12 weeks by the strike, is being resumed.

THE HOTTEST DAY OF THE YEAR brought the largest crowd of the summer to the Escanaba beach. Hundreds of youngsters and parents sought relief from the heat in the water and took advantage of the sunshine to improve sun tans. The four youngsters, bottom picture, brought a picnic lunch to enjoy. ## U.P. Milk Order Being Proposed

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has recommended the amendment of federal milk marketing orders to increase fluid milk prices to dairy farmers under 15 orders.

USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service officials said this recommended decision is based on public hearings held June 25 and 26 in Minneapolis and Cleveland. The proposed increases have been put into effect temporarily during July by USDA suspension action June 28, pending the outcome of the hearings. The hearings were held at the request of dairy farmers who asked for the increases to maintain price alignment of the orders with the new Chicago regional order which took effect July 1.

The proposed increases amount to 24 cents a hundredweight in the Central Illinois, St. Louis, Mo., Quad Cities-Dubuque (Ill.-Ia), Cedar Rapids-Iowa City, North Central Iowa, Des Moines, Minneapolis-St. Paul, and Michigan Upper Peninsula orders.

Storm Causes L'Anse Flood

L'ANSE (AP)—State Police at the Marquette post report heavy flooding in the Upper Peninsula village of L'Anse Monday night. The entire community of 2,397 was under four to five feet of water as a result of a severe storm, police said.

U.S. 41 and other highways and roads have been washed out and telephone communications as well as electrical power were knocked out by the rising water.

No serious injuries have been reported as a result of the flooding.

The Baraga County Water Board has advised all persons in the area not to drink any tap water for the next two days.

L'Anse is located at the southern end of Keweenaw Bay.

Portions of the hamlet were flooded last month when a rare occurance called a seiche — a type of inland tidal wave — rolled into the Keweenaw Bay.

Antipater of Sidon is thought to have listed the seven wonders of the ancient world about 100 B. C.

The aircraft will be delivered at the rate of one monthly between May and September of 1969. North Central currently operates 10 of the 100-passenger DC-9 fan jets.

If approved, these would extend the airline's system north to Winnipeg; west to Denver; south to St. Louis, Louisville, and Charlotte, North Carolina; and east to Boston, New York/Newark, Philadelphia and Washington/Baltimore.

Carr emphasized the mechanical reliability of the Douglas fan jet which, he stated, "has been outstanding."

Melican with purses augmented by special retirement collections established in his behalf.

Monsignor Melican, dean of the Delta County Catholic clergy, was praised for his contributions to the community in short encomiums by Richard Pryal, president of the parish board of education and Dean Lewis, president of the Home and School Association.

Former assistant pastors Fr. Norbert Freiburger, Fr. Thomas Ruppe, F. Charles Oliver, Fr. Charles Strelick and the present assistant pastor, Fr. James Peppin, each expressed their gratitude for the guidance they had received from Msgr. Melican.

John A. Lemmer, a director of the Bishop Noa Home and former Escanaba Area Public Schools superintendent, shared reminiscences of his association with Msgr. Melican when they taught at Escanaba Area High School. Monsignor Melican taught science and agriculture during the 1921-22 school year. Ray and Lyle Shaw, also former fellow faculty members of the school, were also present at the banquet. Lemmer read a farewell poem to Msgr. Melican which he had composed.

Hart Protests

Our Senator Philip A. Hart (D-Michigan) refused to vote for the 10 per cent surtax on incomes which is now nicking the pay of all American workers. He said that it added to the gross inequity of the nation's tax system.

He is right; it amounts to a scandal and unfortunately not enough congressmen and senators think like Hart to make it at all probable that anything is going to be done about it.

Hart told the Senate — when it was considering the surtax — that something is out of kilter when men in the lowest income bracket pay 14 per cent of their income and at the same time the 20 largest oil companies in the nation pay only 6.3 per cent of their net income in federal taxes.

* * *

Hart was trying to direct attention to the oil depletion allowance which has made so many Texas oil millionaires. He estimated that it costs the nation from $1.5 billion to $2.5 billion annually in lost income taxes. Hart said he could not believe that reduction of the depletion allowance from 27.5 per cent (on all gross income up to 50 per cent) for companies with gross incomes from gas and oil properties of more than $5 million, would mean an end to exploration for new oil reserves, which is the reason for the depletion allowance.

When Senator William Proxmire (D-Wisconsin) tried to get the depletion allowance reduced to 15 per cent last year he was rebuffed by voice vote.

* * *

Opposition to this bonanza for oilmen is not limited to any party, the system has foes in both parties and ardent defenders in both.

Former Senator Paul Douglas (D-Illinois), a fighter against tax inequity, says that politicians who have fought against treasury raiders haven't come off well. He cites George Norris, Herbert Lehman, the two Robert LaFollettes. And he adds Albert Gore and Proxmire. "Generally," he says, "these men in the past were ultimately defeated." Douglas was too, of course.

Philip Stern in his "The Great Treasury Raid" says that the loss of taxable income because of loopholes like the depletion allowance amounts to about $40 billion a year. Douglas looks back on his 18 years of efforts to plug some of the loopholes and says, "We have largely failed!"

* * *

That's why Phil Hart doesn't want the little guy socked with taxes while the big ones get away. Last month Rep. Reuss (D-Wisconsin) noted that Standard Oil of New York paid only 3.8 per cent taxes on $1.8 billion profits. Texaco paid the same percentage.

"Sometimes," says Douglas "I suspected a secret pledge or agreement to defend the depletion allowance against all attacks" in the Senate Finance Committee. He suspected also, that campaign funds reinforced these pledges.

Our tax system makes it possible for a person like Mrs. Horace Dodge Jr., who inherited $56 million, to put it all in tax exempt securities which removed the entire fortune from federal taxation.

People who are having a hard time meeting their bills and paying their taxes shouldn't be very happy when they get the new crack from the 10 per cent surtax and reflect on this situation. If there were more tax equity there would be less tax obligation for them.

Sorry For Spying

Remember the Pueblo?

It has been six months since North Korea pirated the U. S. intelligence ship for alleged infringement of territorial waters. The out-cry that followed the boat's seizure has all but evaporated.

Meanwhile, 83 imprisoned sailors wait.

There have been periodic reports that agreement is near, but each has thus proved erroneous. Announced reason for the deadlock is North Korea's insistence that the U. S. apologize for "spying."

And the families of the 83 sailors wait.

Recently, some statesmen have been hinting that, for the good of the crew, the United States should apologize quickly and break the logjam.

The argument is that such an apology would not be seriously believed by most nations anyway and that humanitarian overtones would outweigh the embarrassments.

It may already have been attempted by U. S. negotiators and cast aside by the North Koreans.

It seems unlikely that North Korea would bend simply to words. But if an apology is indeed the only key to the Pueblo crew's cell, then who would object if we should cross our fingers, say "we're sorry" and free our people now?

State Funds For Private Schooling?

Stuart D. Hubbell, prosecuting attorney of Grand Traverse County, is executive director of the Michigan Federation of Citizens for Educational Freedom.

By STUART D. HUBBELL

In the public discussion that has centered about this year's legislative proposal of educational grants to parents of non-public school children, one fundamental truth has become apparent to objective and informed observers—one way or another public support for the secular education of these children will be provided. It will be up to the public to decide whether this assistance will be rendered in the non-public school or, eventually, in the public school.

Heated and emotional as such a discussion can become, Michigan is fortunate that the most thorough study of elementary and secondary education in the State's history was published on Dec. 18, 1967. The $200,000 state-financed study, directed by the State Board of Education, was under the direction of Dr. Alan Thomas of the University of Illinois. As Dr. Thomas stated, "No comprehensive study of school finance in Michigan can logically ignore the state's non-public schools."

* * *

As the report noted 1 out of 7 (14.2%) Michigan students—330,000 in all—receive their education in non-public schools. The education of these 330,000 children in non-public schools saves Michigan taxpayers over $200,000 annually, no tconsidering the cost of school buildings, etc., which clearly would exceed $700 million to replace.

It was also noted that since 1964 the Michigan non-public school has shown a sharp decline—over 10% in 3 years—which the study stated, "has important financial implications" for the public. The study states:

"If fiscal pressures force non-public schools to close or curtail their enrollments, government may need to provide classrooms and instructional services for thousands of youngsters previously educated in the private sector."

* * *

In point of fact, those 30,000 students forced from non-public schools by financial pressures over the last three years cost the public $18 million this past year alone to educate in public schools. "A revenue crisis . . . faces Michigan's non-public schools," Dr. Thomas wrote. "Eventually," the study noted, "through sheer financial pressure, most non-public schools (in Michigan) would be forced to close.

The Michigan Association of Non-Public Schools, in a detailed report of its own, predicted enrollment decline and projected increased public costs which must be anticipated in the next four years as shown in the accompanying charts.

The cause of this financial crisis is not difficult to determine. All education has been subjected to severe educational cost increases. Since 1963, according to the Non-Public School Association teacher salaries have increased from an average of $63 per child to an estimated $153.00 this year—a staggering increase of 147%. Add that overwhelming increase in cost to those increases being experienced by all sectors of education and some conception of the financial difficulties being visited particularly upon non-public schools can be appreciated.

* * *

What can or should be done about it? Should the non-public sector of education simply be allowed to languish however burdensome the public financial consequences? A Task Force of 100 of America's leading industrial and business leaders appointed by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States declared otherwise in its incisive report of 1966. The Task Force stated:

"We think it desirable that parents should have a choice of schools for their children. Educational philosophies differ. Different schools, none of them perfect, will have different combinations of strengths and weaknesses. Parents . . . should be able to choose among them to find the combination that best satisfies them and their children." "Competition with existing public school systems offers a promising means of improving both public and private education. If all parents, at every income level could choose between sending their children to public schools and sending their children to approved private schools at public expense, both public and private education would improve as schools attempted to hold pupils. Businessmen should press for the fullest possible consideration of proposals designed to enhance competition in education."

* * *

Why Education Grants?

The proposal advanced was chosen with care not simply to avoid constitutional snags—as the GI Bill has obviously accomplished—but to advance freedom, diversity, competition and, ultimately, excellence in education. In fact, the U. S. Chamber Task Force report pointed the way in stating that parents who desire to send their children to non-public schools should receive "financial support . . . up to the amount of the average expenditure per pupil in local public schools.

"The plan we suggest for introducing private competition into the school systems is relatively simple," (the Chamber Report continued), "it involves offering the parents of all pupils the option of sending their children to public schools or accepting vouchers which would be redeemable for tuition at approved (non-public) schools."

* * *

Likewise, among the alternative methods recommended by the Michigan School Finance Study this same tuition grant type proposal is expressly advanced. Furthermore, besides the GI Bill in existence since World War II, Michigan has the experience of a similar program under the Michigan College Tuition Grant Law of 1966 under which Michigan students attending non-public colleges in the state are receiving annual state grants of up to $500. Thus what is suggested is a workable and well-tried approach which avoids ultimate state control and monolithic dominance of all education.

The alternative to some such form of assistance appears clearly written on the wall—a collapse of the non-public schools with catastrophic economic, social and political consequences for all education and for the public generally.

It appears certain, therefore that children in non-public schools will receive public assistance one way or another—either in the school of their choice or, ultimately, in the public schools. Good economics and a commitment to educational excellence would appear to dictate providing that minimum assistance necessary to allow parents freedom to select a non-public school.

Competition

By DR. JOHN F. CHOITZ
President, Lutheran College
Michigan Assn. Private Schools

The non-public schools and especially the church-related elementary and secondary schools of Michigan are facing a crisis. The cost of staffing schools is rising rapidly. This strain on financial resources affects both public and non-public schools. Taxpayers who turn down millage requests can be matched with non-public school patrons who honestly feel educational programs cost too much. What happens now?

The Legislature is wrestling with the problem of giving parents of such students some help. If it is carried out, such aid will benefit both the state and the parent, and will help keep the non-public schools functioning.

Competition in business usually results in better products and better services at lower cost for the customer. There is reason to believe that in education. . ."

Dissent

By JOHN P. YORKE

Recently the Detroit Association of Laymen, a newly formed organization working to influence policies from within the Catholic Church, issued the following public statement in opposition to the church's massive efforts at seeking aid to private education:

"The Detroit Association of Laymen is both shocked and saddened that the Catholic Church in Michigan has chosen such an inadvisable time to carry on a campaign for state aid to nonpublic schools.

"This effort is extremely divisive at the worst possible time, absorbs much of our energies, lessens greatly the chances for added public school financing, and indicates a gesture of selfishness and lack of general community concern because of the community context in which the effort is taking place.

* * *

"The State of Michigan is faced with many grave problems whose solutions cannot be put off. Our community faces a seething cauldron of social unrest at a time when there is increasing deterioration of community life. One area in which this deterioration is most pronounced is in our public schools, the only education hope for most of Detroit's ghetto population.

"In the light of this plight and of the obvious lack of money in the state coffers, we must ask how the Detroit Archdiocese can defend its actions which are so demonstrably contrary to the public interests at this time.

* * *

"The works appropriate to our times are the works of social justice. It is here that the church must show her faithfulness to Christ's command of service. The role of the Catholic Church in Detroit is clear. She must forget her own special interests — in this case, support for her largely middle class membership — and become deeply involved in solving Detroit's social problems..."

The Detroit Association of Laymen is a group of Catholic laymen who have joined together to seek to stimulate an authentic, free and responsible lay voice in the Church in the Archdiocese of Detroit. The DAL in formation since last September, was formally constituted in January of this year. As of the present time, the group is composed of about 50 persons committed to the development of democratic processes at all levels within the church.

It is important to note some of the things the DAL did not do or say in its statement on the School Aid Bill. It did not, for example, argue the constitutionality of the measure; nor did it deny the need existing in the private education sector; nor indeed did the statement question the claim in justice that private education may have on public funds.

The criticism of the DAL against the Catholic Church's efforts in behalf of school aid bill was threefold; it was directed at the timing of the campaign, the lack of concern about the wider community that it reflected, and the divisiveness it created between the Catholic Church and other faiths.

One of the more interesting modern gadgets is the responsive double. The responsive double is a sort of response to an overcall or take-out double made earlier by your partner and merely says, "I have some cards. Bid or pass as you think best."

We refuse to take a stand for or again this gadget. You can get on well without it but there are hands in which it fills a gap.

West's takeout double of one heart was not a good one. In fact it was a mighty poor bid but West felt like bidding.

North's jump to four hearts put a lot of pressure on East. He did hold two kings and two queens plus a couple of 10s. He might well have tried four spades but he was playing responsive doubles all the way to game. Most responsive double addicts stop "responsiving" and go to business doubles at or slightly below the game level. Anyway, East chose the responsive double.

West also might have tried four spades but West knew he would not make that contract. Actually he would go down three tricks. So West passed and hoped there would be some way to set four hearts.

Four hearts is not a good contract. South has three losers in top tricks and must avoid losing a trump trick. With the king and a small heart reposing nicely in the East hand it looks as if he will avoid that loss but East and West proceeded to find a way to make a trump trick.

West had no decent lead and chose the ace of diamonds. He also had no decent second play and so continued the suit. East was in with the king and returned a spade.

The defense had three tricks in and West led another diamond. East ruffed with the king. South overruffed but now there was no way to keep West from taking the setting trick with his jack of trumps.

What do you do now?

A—Bid four diamonds. Your partner has indicated a good opening bid and you want to be in a slam but diamonds may play better than no-trump or hearts.

You bid four diamonds and your partner bids four no-trump. What do you do now?

Doctor Isn't God, So, What Is New?

Dear Ann Landers: I was surprised that you made reference to the surgeon who took off the wrong leg by mistake. The medical profession doesn't like that kind of publicity.

Several years ago my wife was in the hospital for a spinal disc operation. The morning she was scheduled for surgery, a physician walked into her room and said in his cheeriest voice, "You certainly don't look like a woman of 66." My wife replied, "I HOPE I don't. I'm 45." The doctor gulped and stammered, "Uh, I must have the wrong chart here." He left and returned a few moments later with the correct chart.

Heaven only knows what would have happened if the mistake had not been discovered. The woman whose chart the doctor held may have been scheduled for a gall bladder operation or a thyroidectomy. I'm writing to alert you to the fact that doctors are not God. They are human beings who make mistakes, just like everyone else, and it pays to check on them. — HUSBAND OF A NEAR-VICTIM

Dear Husband: Thank you for your letter. I knew before you wrote that doctors are not God and they make mistakes like everyone else. I have expressed those very sentiments in this column on numerous occasions.

Dear Ann Landers: I accepted a job with this organization eight months ago today. A woman I met here impressed me as extremely bright and friendly. I liked her at once. Now the problem:

This woman has worn the same washable two-piece corduroy outfit every day since we met. She is not hard up financially. Her husband has a top-notch position and she also makes an excellent salary. I have been to their home and seen several dresses hanging in her closet. When I asked her why she never wore them she replied, "They are too large. I used to be quite heavy." I offered to give her the name of my alteration lady but she said, "It wouldn't be worth it."

The woman is neat and clean, but can you imagine what that corduroy suit looks like after being worn every day for eight months? I do believe the dear lady will wear that suit to her grave. Would she be offended if I presented her with a decent dress in her size?—WACO

Dear Waco: Save your money. Your friend has a psychological thing going with that corduroy suit and she will continue to wear it until it falls off her back. Be thankful that she is neat and clean and don't make her hang-up your problem.

Dear Ann Landers: Can you tell me please what the duties of a minister's wife are? When is she supposed to find time for her own family and the activities she considers fun and not obligations? I've asked this question of several friends who are married to ministers and they don't know the answer. Do you? — DAWN TO DUSK HELPMATE

Dear Dawn: This problem is one you ought to talk over with your clergyman.

Opposition to this bonanza for oilmen is not limited to any party, the system has foes in both parties and ardent defenders in both.

Former Senator Paul Douglas (D-Illinois), a fighter against tax inequity, says that politicians who have fought against treasury raiders haven't come off well. He cites George Norris, Herbert Lehman, the two Robert LaFollettes. And he adds Albert Gore and Proxmire. "Generally," he says, "these men in the past were ultimately defeated." Douglas was too, of course.

Philip Stern in his "The Great Treasury Raid" says that the loss of taxable income because of loopholes like the depletion allowance amounts to about $40 billion a year. Douglas looks back on his 18 years of efforts to plug some of the loopholes and says, "We have largely failed!"

* * *

That's why Phil Hart doesn't want the little guy socked with taxes while the big ones get away. Last month Rep. Reuss (D-Wisconsin) noted that Standard Oil of New York paid only 3.8 per cent taxes on $1.8 billion profits. Texaco paid the same percentage.

"Sometimes," says Douglas "I suspected a secret pledge or agreement to defend the depletion allowance against all attacks" in the Senate Finance Committee. He suspected also, that campaign funds reinforced these pledges.

Our tax system makes it possible for a person like Mrs. Horace Dodge Jr., who inherited $56 million, to put it all in tax exempt securities which removed the entire fortune from federal taxation.

People who are having a hard time meeting their bills and paying their taxes shouldn't be very happy when they get the new crack from the 10 per cent surtax and reflect on this situation. If there were more tax equity there would be less tax obligation for them.

Sorry For Spying

Remember the Pueblo?

It has been six months since North Korea pirated the U. S. intelligence ship for alleged infringement of territorial waters. The out-cry that followed the boat's seizure has all but evaporated.

Meanwhile, 83 imprisoned sailors wait.

There have been periodic reports that agreement is near, but each has thus proved erroneous. Announced reason for the deadlock is North Korea's insistence that the U. S. apologize for "spying."

And the families of the 83 sailors wait.

Recently, some statesmen have been hinting that, for the good of the crew, the United States should apologize quickly and break the logjam.

The argument is that such an apology would not be seriously believed by most nations anyway and that humanitarian overtones would outweigh the embarrassments.

It may already have been attempted by U. S. negotiators and cast aside by the North Koreans.

It seems unlikely that North Korea would bend simply to words. But if an apology is indeed the only key to the Pueblo crew's cell, then who would object if we should cross our fingers, say "we're sorry" and free our people now?

State Funds For Private Schooling?

Stuart D. Hubbell, prosecuting attorney of Grand Traverse County, is executive director of the Michigan Federation of Citizens for Educational Freedom.

By STUART D. HUBBELL

In the public discussion that has centered about this year's legislative proposal of educational grants to parents of non-public school children, one fundamental truth has become apparent to objective and informed observers—one way or another public support for the secular education of these children will be provided. It will be up to the public to decide whether this assistance will be rendered in the non-public school or, eventually, in the public school.

Heated and emotional as such a discussion can become, Michigan is fortunate that the most thorough study of elementary and secondary education in the State's history was published on Dec. 18, 1967. The $200,000 state-financed study, directed by the State Board of Education, was under the direction of Dr. Alan Thomas of the University of Illinois. As Dr. Thomas stated, "No comprehensive study of school finance in Michigan can logically ignore the state's non-public schools."

* * *

As the report noted 1 out of 7 (14.2%) Michigan students—330,000 in all—receive their education in non-public schools. The education of these 330,000 children in non-public schools saves Michigan taxpayers over $200,000 annually, no tconsidering the cost of school buildings, etc., which clearly would exceed $700 million to replace.

It was also noted that since 1964 the Michigan non-public school has shown a sharp decline—over 10% in 3 years—which the study stated, "has important financial implications" for the public. The study states:

"If fiscal pressures force non-public schools to close or curtail their enrollments, government may need to provide classrooms and instructional services for thousands of youngsters previously educated in the private sector."

* * *

In point of fact, those 30,000 students forced from non-public schools by financial pressures over the last three years cost the public $18 million this past year alone to educate in public schools. "A revenue crisis . . . faces Michigan's non-public schools," Dr. Thomas wrote. "Eventually," the study noted, "through sheer financial pressure, most non-public schools (in Michigan) would be forced to close.

The Michigan Association of Non-Public Schools, in a detailed report of its own, predicted enrollment decline and projected increased public costs which must be anticipated in the next four years as shown in the accompanying charts.

The cause of this financial crisis is not difficult to determine. All education has been subjected to severe educational cost increases. Since 1963, according to the Non-Public School Association teacher salaries have increased from an average of $63 per child to an estimated $153.00 this year—a staggering increase of 147%. Add that overwhelming increase in cost to those increases being experienced by all sectors of education and some conception of the financial difficulties being visited particularly upon non-public schools can be appreciated.

* * *

What can or should be done about it? Should the non-public sector of education simply be allowed to languish however burdensome the public financial consequences? A Task Force of 100 of America's leading industrial and business leaders appointed by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States declared otherwise in its incisive report of 1966. The Task Force stated:

"We think it desirable that parents should have a choice of schools for their children. Educational philosophies differ. Different schools, none of them perfect, will have different combinations of strengths and weaknesses. Parents . . . should be able to choose among them to find the combination that best satisfies them and their children." "Competition with existing public school systems offers a promising means of improving both public and private education. If all parents, at every income level could choose between sending their children to public schools and sending their children to approved private schools at public expense, both public and private education would improve as schools attempted to hold pupils. Businessmen should press for the fullest possible consideration of proposals designed to enhance competition in education."

* * *

Why Education Grants?

The proposal advanced was chosen with care not simply to avoid constitutional snags—as the GI Bill has obviously accomplished—but to advance freedom, diversity, competition and, ultimately, excellence in education. In fact, the U. S. Chamber Task Force report pointed the way in stating that parents who desire to send their children to non-public schools should receive "financial support . . . up to the amount of the average expenditure per pupil in local public schools.

"The plan we suggest for introducing private competition into the school systems is relatively simple," (the Chamber Report continued), "it involves offering the parents of all pupils the option of sending their children to public schools or accepting vouchers which would be redeemable for tuition at approved (non-public) schools."

* * *

Likewise, among the alternative methods recommended by the Michigan School Finance Study this same tuition grant type proposal is expressly advanced. Furthermore, besides the GI Bill in existence since World War II, Michigan has the experience of a similar program under the Michigan College Tuition Grant Law of 1966 under which Michigan students attending non-public colleges in the state are receiving annual state grants of up to $500. Thus what is suggested is a workable and well-tried approach which avoids ultimate state control and monolithic dominance of all education.

The alternative to some such form of assistance appears clearly written on the wall—a collapse of the non-public schools with catastrophic economic, social and political consequences for all education and for the public generally.

It appears certain, therefore that children in non-public schools will receive public assistance one way or another—either in the school of their choice or, ultimately, in the public schools. Good economics and a commitment to educational excellence would appear to dictate providing that minimum assistance necessary to allow parents freedom to select a non-public school.

Competition

By DR. JOHN F. CHOITZ
President, Lutheran College
Michigan Assn. Private Schools

The non-public schools and especially the church-related elementary and secondary schools of Michigan are facing a crisis. The cost of staffing schools is rising rapidly. This strain on financial resources affects both public and non-public schools. Taxpayers who turn down millage requests can be matched with non-public school patrons who honestly feel educational programs cost too much. What happens now?

The Legislature is wrestling with the problem of giving parents of such students some help. If it is carried out, such aid will benefit both the state and the parent, and will help keep the non-public schools functioning.

Competition in business usually results in better products and better services at lower cost for the customer. There is reason to believe that in education. . ."

Dissent

By JOHN P. YORKE

Recently the Detroit Association of Laymen, a newly formed organization working to influence policies from within the Catholic Church, issued the following public statement in opposition to the church's massive efforts at seeking aid to private education:

"The Detroit Association of Laymen is both shocked and saddened that the Catholic Church in Michigan has chosen such an inadvisable time to carry on a campaign for state aid to nonpublic schools.

"This effort is extremely divisive at the worst possible time, absorbs much of our energies, lessens greatly the chances for added public school financing, and indicates a gesture of selfishness and lack of general community concern because of the community context in which the effort is taking place.

* * *

"The State of Michigan is faced with many grave problems whose solutions cannot be put off. Our community faces a seething cauldron of social unrest at a time when there is increasing deterioration of community life. One area in which this deterioration is most pronounced is in our public schools, the only education hope for most of Detroit's ghetto population.

"In the light of this plight and of the obvious lack of money in the state coffers, we must ask how the Detroit Archdiocese can defend its actions which are so demonstrably contrary to the public interests at this time.

* * *

"The works appropriate to our times are the works of social justice. It is here that the church must show her faithfulness to Christ's command of service. The role of the Catholic Church in Detroit is clear. She must forget her own special interests — in this case, support for her largely middle class membership — and become deeply involved in solving Detroit's social problems..."

The Detroit Association of Laymen is a group of Catholic laymen who have joined together to seek to stimulate an authentic, free and responsible lay voice in the Church in the Archdiocese of Detroit. The DAL in formation since last September, was formally constituted in January of this year. As of the present time, the group is composed of about 50 persons committed to the development of democratic processes at all levels within the church.

It is important to note some of the things the DAL did not do or say in its statement on the School Aid Bill. It did not, for example, argue the constitutionality of the measure; nor did it deny the need existing in the private education sector; nor indeed did the statement question the claim in justice that private education may have on public funds.

The criticism of the DAL against the Catholic Church's efforts in behalf of school aid bill was threefold; it was directed at the timing of the campaign, the lack of concern about the wider community that it reflected, and the divisiveness it created between the Catholic Church and other faiths.

One of the more interesting modern gadgets is the responsive double. The responsive double is a sort of response to an overcall or take-out double made earlier by your partner and merely says, "I have some cards. Bid or pass as you think best."

We refuse to take a stand for or again this gadget. You can get on well without it but there are hands in which it fills a gap.

West's takeout double of one heart was not a good one. In fact it was a mighty poor bid but West felt like bidding.

North's jump to four hearts put a lot of pressure on East. He did hold two kings and two queens plus a couple of 10s. He might well have tried four spades but he was playing responsive doubles all the way to game. Most responsive double addicts stop "responsiving" and go to business doubles at or slightly below the game level. Anyway, East chose the responsive double.

West also might have tried four spades but West knew he would not make that contract. Actually he would go down three tricks. So West passed and hoped there would be some way to set four hearts.

Four hearts is not a good contract. South has three losers in top tricks and must avoid losing a trump trick. With the king and a small heart reposing nicely in the East hand it looks as if he will avoid that loss but East and West proceeded to find a way to make a trump trick.

West had no decent lead and chose the ace of diamonds. He also had no decent second play and so continued the suit. East was in with the king and returned a spade.

The defense had three tricks in and West led another diamond. East ruffed with the king. South overruffed but now there was no way to keep West from taking the setting trick with his jack of trumps.

Doctor Isn't God, So, What Is New?

Dear Ann Landers: I was surprised that you made reference to the surgeon who took off the wrong leg by mistake. The medical profession doesn't like that kind of publicity.

Several years ago my wife was in the hospital for a spinal disc operation. The morning she was scheduled for surgery, a physician walked into her room and said in his cheeriest voice, "You certainly don't look like a woman of 66." My wife replied, "I HOPE I don't. I'm 45." The doctor gulped and stammered, "Uh, I must have the wrong chart here." He left and returned a few moments later with the correct chart.

Heaven only knows what would have happened if the mistake had not been discovered. The woman whose chart the doctor held may have been scheduled for a gall bladder operation or a thyroidectomy. I'm writing to alert you to the fact that doctors are not God. They are human beings who make mistakes, just like everyone else, and it pays to check on them. — HUSBAND OF A NEAR-VICTIM

This woman has worn the same washable two-piece corduroy outfit every day since we met. She is not hard up financially. Her husband has a top-notch position and she also makes an excellent salary. I have been to their home and seen several dresses hanging in her closet. When I asked her why she never wore them she replied, "They are too large. I used to be quite heavy." I offered to give her the name of my alteration lady but she said, "It wouldn't be worth it."

The woman is neat and clean, but can you imagine what that corduroy suit looks like after being worn every day for eight months? I do believe the dear lady will wear that suit to her grave. Would she be offended if I presented her with a decent dress in her size?—WACO

Dear Waco: Save your money. Your friend has a psychological thing going with that corduroy suit and she will continue to wear it until it falls off her back. Be thankful that she is neat and clean and don't make her hang-up your problem.

Dear Dawn: This problem is one you ought to talk over with your clergyman.

Award Contracts On Sewage Plant, Sewer System

GWINN — Contracts were awarded low bidders for four sections of the new Forsyth Township sewage disposal plant and sanitary sewer system at a meeting of the Forsyth Township Board.

Low bidders for various phases of the project were as follows: L. Siller, Ann Arbor, sanitary sewers, $107,283.65, and river cross siphon and chamber clean out, $34,385.75; Walter Lindberg & Sons, Ishpeming, Gwinn lagoon system, $262,861.50, and Earl Reamer, DePere, Wis., Austin lagoon, $31,000.

Prior to awarding contracts, discussion was held regarding feasibility of separating sanitary and storm systems.

John Erickson of Escanaba, representing the Michigan State Health Department, explained the system could be separated, but this would entail a revision of the original plans, which would require considerable time.

Erickson emphasized that no additional time was available, as the sewage facility must be completed by April, 1969, according to the judgment issued by the Marquette County Circuit Court. He pointed out also that no plans have been made for financing the storm sewer, if it were separated from the sanitary system.

The system will halt pollution of the Escanaba River in the Gwinn area.

Arrangements are underway to float a bond issue of $480,000 to finance the project. Bonds will be retired over a 30-year period.

Board members agreed to send a letter to the Michigan Water Resources Commission accepting a grant of $108,300 to assist in financing the sewage treatment facility. This grant is designed to cover 30 per cent of the portion of the cost, which amounts to $361,000 for the Gwinn and Austin areas.

The Water Resources Commission offer would have expired on July 20. The commission will review the status of the facility on Dec. 1, and if the plant has not been placed under construction by that time consideration will be given to withdrawing the grant.

Mrs. Arlene Hill, clerk, was authorized to contact the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission regarding possibility of a grant to supplement the one from the Water Resources Commission, and to explore any other avenues for sources of revenue.

Construction will begin as soon as necessary land is acquired and arrangements regarding the bond isue are completed.

Clifford Warns On Aid Slash

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford has told the chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee that drastic curtailment of foreign aid could affect the Paris peace negotiations.

The warning from Clifford, now on an inspection trip to Vietnam, was contained in a letter to Rep. Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., who released it on the eve of today's opening debate on the always controversial foreign aid bill.

Morgan's committee slashed the administration's request for the fiscal year that began July 1 from $2.96 billion to $2.36 billion.

The bill squeaked by the House by only eight votes last year when Congress authorized $2.67 billion for the program, but then appropriated only $2.2 billion.

A series of cutting amendments are in store along with an effort to clamp a one-year moratorium on the program and probably an attempt to kill it outright.

The committee bill allocates $1.97 billion for economic aid as compared with the administration request for $2.54 billion. Military aid was cut from $420 million to $390 million.

Clifford also cautioned against a military aid moratorium.

Security Law

WASHINGTON — "To further protect our senior citizens against the cutting edge of inflation," Congressman Phil Ruppe told the House of Representatives this week, "I am sponsoring legislation to tie Social Security benefits increases automatically to increases in the cost of living." The bill provides a formula that would result in Social Security annuity increases in amounts equal to rises in the consumer price index of 3 per cent or more.

Ruppe said the proposed automatic increase in Social Security benefits, correlated to increases in the Consumer Price Index, would involve no increased payroll deductions for those contributing to the system.

Award Contracts On Sewage Plant, Sewer System

GWINN — Contracts were awarded low bidders for four sections of the new Forsyth Township sewage disposal plant and sanitary sewer system at a meeting of the Forsyth Township Board.

Low bidders for various phases of the project were as follows: L. Siller, Ann Arbor, sanitary sewers, $107,283.65, and river cross siphon and chamber clean out, $34,385.75; Walter Lindberg & Sons, Ishpeming, Gwinn lagoon system, $262,861.50, and Earl Reamer, DePere, Wis., Austin lagoon, $31,000.

Prior to awarding contracts, discussion was held regarding feasibility of separating sanitary and storm systems.

John Erickson of Escanaba, representing the Michigan State Health Department, explained the system could be separated, but this would entail a revision of the original plans, which would require considerable time.

Erickson emphasized that no additional time was available, as the sewage facility must be completed by April, 1969, according to the judgment issued by the Marquette County Circuit Court. He pointed out also that no plans have been made for financing the storm sewer, if it were separated from the sanitary system.

The system will halt pollution of the Escanaba River in the Gwinn area.

Arrangements are underway to float a bond issue of $480,000 to finance the project. Bonds will be retired over a 30-year period.

Board members agreed to send a letter to the Michigan Water Resources Commission accepting a grant of $108,300 to assist in financing the sewage treatment facility. This grant is designed to cover 30 per cent of the portion of the cost, which amounts to $361,000 for the Gwinn and Austin areas.

The Water Resources Commission offer would have expired on July 20. The commission will review the status of the facility on Dec. 1, and if the plant has not been placed under construction by that time consideration will be given to withdrawing the grant.

Mrs. Arlene Hill, clerk, was authorized to contact the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission regarding possibility of a grant to supplement the one from the Water Resources Commission, and to explore any other avenues for sources of revenue.

Construction will begin as soon as necessary land is acquired and arrangements regarding the bond isue are completed.

Clifford Warns On Aid Slash

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford has told the chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee that drastic curtailment of foreign aid could affect the Paris peace negotiations.

The warning from Clifford, now on an inspection trip to Vietnam, was contained in a letter to Rep. Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., who released it on the eve of today's opening debate on the always controversial foreign aid bill.

Morgan's committee slashed the administration's request for the fiscal year that began July 1 from $2.96 billion to $2.36 billion.

The bill squeaked by the House by only eight votes last year when Congress authorized $2.67 billion for the program, but then appropriated only $2.2 billion.

A series of cutting amendments are in store along with an effort to clamp a one-year moratorium on the program and probably an attempt to kill it outright.

The committee bill allocates $1.97 billion for economic aid as compared with the administration request for $2.54 billion. Military aid was cut from $420 million to $390 million.

Clifford also cautioned against a military aid moratorium.

Security Law

WASHINGTON — "To further protect our senior citizens against the cutting edge of inflation," Congressman Phil Ruppe told the House of Representatives this week, "I am sponsoring legislation to tie Social Security benefits increases automatically to increases in the cost of living." The bill provides a formula that would result in Social Security annuity increases in amounts equal to rises in the consumer price index of 3 per cent or more.

Ruppe said the proposed automatic increase in Social Security benefits, correlated to increases in the Consumer Price Index, would involve no increased payroll deductions for those contributing to the system.

Russia Warns On Socialism Without Her

The statement said that this year the Czechoslovaks have had great hopes in the process of democratization, but these hopes now are threatened.

"It took several months." It added, "for many of us to believe that we could speak out, and many still do not believe it. Nevertheless, we have spoken up, and so many things have been revealed that somehow we must complete our aim of humanizing this regime. Otherwise the revenge of the old forces would be cruel. . .

"Let us demand the resignation of people who have misused their power, who have harmed public property or who have acted dishonestly or brutally. We must find ways and means to induce them to resign: for example, through public criticism, resolutions, demonstrations, demonstrative work brigades, collection drives for gifts to them when they withdrew, strikes and boycotts of their doors."

Russian Threat

Coupled with this heady stuff was a warning that "foreign forces may interfere with our internal development. That could mean only the Soviet Union, even then exerting pressure through the device of Warsaw Pact military exercises on Czechoslovak soil.

The Czechoslovak National Assembly, on the advice of Premier Oldrich Cernik, rejected the "2,000 words," but this was not enough for leaders of the Soviet Union and other Communist nations fearful of contagion.

Pressure On Prague

This, he said, had to be repeated "when the apologists of the bourgeois system are ready to don any pseudosocialist attire in order to attempt, under the guise of national forms, to shatter and, as they say, 'soften' socialism, and to weaken fraternal links among the Socialist countries."

The Warsaw meeting suggests that the pressure on Prague and the reform regime of Alexander Dubcek, the new first secretary of the Czechoslovak party will get heavier and heavier as the time approaches for the special September congress of that party. That is the congress at which the reformers hope to throw out the last of the old hard-liners. But the hard-liners, though they have lost the first round, still may be counting on powerful Soviet support for a comeback which will destroy the reform movement for good.

Plans for a special education room were presented and approved. Ray Godmer and Carl Zimmer of the Delta-Schoolcraft Intermediate school district toured the proposed location of the special education room.

A contract for landscaping around the new addition was awarded to Northern Asphalt Co. of Escanaba. Chuck Parrett, low bidder, was awarded the contract for painting five classrooms and window sash in two other rooms.

Busy Weekend For Yachtsmen

The Escanaba Yacht Club annual regatta started with a cocktail hour at the House of Ludington on Friday night and registration with the Bean family — Gordon, Deloris and daughter, Merrily — in charge.

Saturday morning the El Toro fleet got under way in their junior race, first in a series of four for the Coleman Nee trophy. Winners, in order: Lynn Zimmermann, Chris Shipman, Jim Walch, Jon Van Brussel, Bill Taylor. Intermediate class series of four races for the State Bank trophy: First race winners: Dean Shipman Jr., Merrily Bean, Jon Baudek, Mike Curtin, Karen Hivala, Jay Bradshaw, Charlie Taylor, Bill St. Martin, Skip Walch, Pat Manning, Danny Criel, Rob Straebel, John Cerasoli, Jim Rinehart.

A Predicted Log race winner was Bill Stenbol in his boat "Gypsy."

At 1:30 Saturday in the small boat "Free for All" Edgar Nelsen of Menominee was over the winning line first with his "Flying Scot." Next in order: Tom Lewis in his "Ford 20;" Pat De Gaynor in the first of the Seagulls; Bill Boyce, Skip Zimmermann, Dean Shipman, Richard Straebel, Paul Bissell, Walt Zimmermann Henry Van Brussel, Mike Labre, Russ DeRoeck. There is a protest pending so winners can not be announced yet.

In the El Toro scramble race some of the skippers of the larger boats sailed the little 8 foot boats for the first time. Walter Zimmermann Sr. won the race with his son, Skip, close behind. Elli Peterson of the "Petrely," Sister Bay, was third followed by John Prokos, Mike Labre, John Anthony, Jack Bradshaw, Gordon Bean, Dan Ruff, Irv DeRoeck, and William Burridge.

There was another scramble Sunday afternoon and the two races determined overall winner. Skip Zimmermann won the second race with Mike Labre and Walter Zimmermann Sr. next. Totaling, Skip Zimmermann won the trophy.

Saturday evening a dinner was served to about 100 by Ann Shipman, Joy Bradshaw, Ann Straebel, Alice Kaufmann and Lois Zimmermann and Ruth Gasman and her helpers prepared breakfast Sunday for the hungry sailors.

The cruising division race course was about 23 miles and took 4 hours and 54 minutes. John Anthony was the winner of this race. Positions of the other boats: Fran Anderson's "Fradaka," Pete Peterson's "Petrely," of Menominee, Irv DeRoeck's "Betty Joy" of Gladstone, and Frank St. Martin's "Gavilon." The "Venturon" was second but could not place because of it's Universal rating.

In an open design small boat invitational first over the line again was Nelsen's "Flying Scot," followed by Tom Lewis' "Ford 20," Doug Johnson's Seagull, Fran Boyce, Mike Labre, Gene Kaufmann, Bill Moras, and Brian Martin.

Awards were announced by Commodore Dean Shipman in the evening.

Russia Warns On Socialism Without Her

The statement said that this year the Czechoslovaks have had great hopes in the process of democratization, but these hopes now are threatened.

"It took several months." It added, "for many of us to believe that we could speak out, and many still do not believe it. Nevertheless, we have spoken up, and so many things have been revealed that somehow we must complete our aim of humanizing this regime. Otherwise the revenge of the old forces would be cruel. . .

"Let us demand the resignation of people who have misused their power, who have harmed public property or who have acted dishonestly or brutally. We must find ways and means to induce them to resign: for example, through public criticism, resolutions, demonstrations, demonstrative work brigades, collection drives for gifts to them when they withdraw, strikes and boycotts of their doors."

Russian Threat

Coupled with this heady stuff was a warning that "foreign forces may interfere with our internal development. That could mean only the Soviet Union, even then exerting pressure through the device of Warsaw Pact military exercises on Czechoslovak soil.

The Czechoslovak National Assembly, on the advice of Premier Oldrich Cernik, rejected the "2,000 words," but this was not enough for leaders of the Soviet Union and other Communist nations fearful of contagion.

Pressure On Prague

This, he said, had to be repeated "when the apologists of the bourgeois system are ready to don any pseudosocialist attire in order to attempt, under the guise of national forms, to shatter and, as they say, 'soften' socialism, and to weaken fraternal links among the Socialist countries."

The Warsaw meeting suggests that the pressure on Prague and the reform regime of Alexander Dubcek, the new first secretary of the Czechoslovak party will get heavier and heavier as the time approaches for the special September congress of that party. That is the congress at which the reformers hope to throw out the last of the old hard-liners. But the hard-liners, though they have lost the first round, still may be counting on powerful Soviet support for a comeback which will destroy the reform movement for good.

Cavanaghs In Divorce Court

The open court hearing in the divorce suit began Monday with a flurry of charges and countercharges. The open hearing followed three days of private sessions in the chambers of Wayne County Circuit Judge Charles Farmer.

Cavanagh denied a charge that he had tapped his wife's telephone, but later admitted under cross-examination that the intelligence department of the Detroit Police Department had an extension on his home phone.

The mayor said the extension was attached for security reasons and was installed and removed without his knowledge.

The mayor and Mrs. Cavanagh accused each other of drinking heavily and Mrs. Cavanagh told the court, "I did not know what foul language was until I married him. I had to look in the dictionary to find the meanings of the words he used and many of them were not there."

Mrs. Cavanagh accused her husband of using profanities in front of the couple's eight children.

Mrs. Cavanagh admitted having once thrown an egg at the mayor and, on another occasion, dashing him with a cup of lukewarm coffee. "Sometimes it is better to be yelled at than to be ignored," she said.

Mrs. Cavanagh's attorney said she wanted a reconciliation. But Cavanagh said, "I see no hope for reconciliation. Some finalization of this limbo that we are in must come for the welfare of the children."

Both the Cavanagh's are Roman Catholics. The Archdiocese of Detroit gave the mayor permission to seek a limited divorce, but denied Mrs. Cavanagh's petition for permission to seek separate maintenance. The Archdiocese had no comment on these moves.

A limited divorce would not allow either party to remarry. This week, however, Cavanagh's attorney, Fred Buesser, Jr. amended the mayor's petition to seek an absolute divorce. There was no indication whether an absolute divorce would allow either partner to remarry under church law.

Mrs. Cavanagh, who lives in the family residence, has temporary custody of several of their children. The other children live with the mayor at the official city mansion.

Soapy Is Demo Choice For MSU

BANGOR (AP) — A member of the Republican State Central Committee, Jerry Rowe, predicts former Gov. G. Mennen Williams will be the next president of Michigan State University "if the Democrats win control of the MSU Board of Trustees this year."

Rowe made the comments Saturday at the Van Buren County Republican Committee's annual barbecue. Also attending were two Republican cadidates fo MSU board positions, David Diedhl and Dick Ernst.

Diedhl said the Democrats hold a 5-3 margin but one of the Democrats refuses to go along with the rest and said this is what is preventing Williams from getting the presidential nod.

Diedhl added that it has long been rumored that if the present 4-4 deadlock could be broken and trustees elected who were sympathetic to August Scholle, that Williams would be made president of the university.

Gogebic Explorer Files Lemmer's Gift To U Of M

ANN ARBOR—The University of Michigan Historical Collections has just acquired 11 issues of the Gogebic Explorer, a newspaper published in 1885 in Bessemer.

The paper ceased publication after the 11th week and the complete series is a valuable acquisition, says Fraser Cocks III, assistant to the director of the collections.

The editors put forth their credo in the first issue, June 4, 1885: "Believing that the Gogebic Range has now arrived at that point when sufficient food and ample support can be obtained for the publishing of an interesting paper, the Gogebic Explorer has been started . . . . .

"Locally, pains will be taken to collect the interesting happenings of the range, and write them up in a terse and palatable style.

"Politically, neutrality will be attempted in all cases, whenever anything of a political nature shall appear on its pages. But politics will not be allowed to agitate the editorial atmosphere to any great degree. . . ."

Cribbing freely from other newspapers and magazines, the Explorer managed to fill eight pages every week. True to their word, the editors regularly filled page 1 with goings-on about the mines, tonnages, prospects on old and new finds, and mechanical improvements.

The paper made a real effort to appeal to the whole family and exhibit good taste and morals. The second and third pages generally carried fictional stories with an obvious moral content and hints on feminine beauty and hygiene.

There was the usual interest in macabre occurences such as fatal crimes of passion and lovers' quarrels that ended in tragedy. But these items were generally fewer than those of a more light-hearted nature, such as:

"Boston girls much maligned. Don't all wear eyeglasses. Don't all live on Greek roots. Do talk about something beside 'culchah.' Like theaters; like operas; like ice cream same as other girls. Saturday afternoon streets full of pretty girls. . . .

"Ladies (of Boston) would attract attention anywhere. Native dignity evidenced in bearing. Not easy to become acquainted with. When ice is broken, one finds them charming women. . . ."

While avoiding political discussions, the editors did keep their readers up to date on occurences of national pride or tragedy. In June 1885 the paper carried a story about the formal welcome of the Statue of Liberty to Bedloe's Island along with a pen-and-ink drawing of what the piece would look like when finished. The paper mourned with the nation upon the death of Gen. Ulysses S. Grant on July 23, 1885, and sadly noted that he had smoked his last cigar on the previous No. 20.

The paper is the gift of Victor Lemmer of Ironwood, a longtime friend and supporter of the Michigan Historical Collections. After undergoing a laminating process to preserve the fragile pages, the material has been bound and placed on the shelves where researchers may use it.

Bank Suspects Held For Hearing

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Three Jackson State Prison escapees apprehended in Gladstone and charged with possession of stolen money in connection with a bank holdup at Otisville were held under $30,000 bond each Monday after appearing before U.S. Commissioner Stephen Karr.

Held at the Kent County Jail after demanding examinations were Harry Kacznyski Jr., 29, of Detroit, John O'Tremba, 25, of Detroit, and Marvin L. Miller, 37, of Salt Lake City, Utah. Court-appointed attorneys were to be named for the men.

A woman also arrested on a charge of possessing stolen money, Mary Ellen Johnson, 30, of Flint, waived examination and was released on personal recognizance bond.

The four were taken into custody in Gladstone and were driven to Grand Rapids Sunday by state police and FBI agents.

The bank was robbed of $18,000 last week Monday by two gunmen brandishing snub-nosed revolvers. Police said Kacznyski had a .38-caliber pistol with him when apprehended.

Looted

DETROIT (AP) — Two armed robbers escaped with between $30,000 and $50,000 from a branch of the National Bank of Detroit Monday.

Gogebic Explorer Files Lemmer's Gift To U Of M

ANN ARBOR—The University of Michigan Historical Collections has just acquired 11 issues of the Gogebic Explorer, a newspaper published in 1885 in Bessemer.

The paper ceased publication after the 11th week and the complete series is a valuable acquisition, says Fraser Cocks III, assistant to the director of the collections.

The editors put forth their credo in the first issue, June 4, 1885: "Believing that the Gogebic Range has now arrived at that point when sufficient food and ample support can be obtained for the publishing of an interesting paper, the Gogebic Explorer has been started . . . . .

"Locally, pains will be taken to collect the interesting happenings of the range, and write them up in a terse and palatable style.

"Politically, neutrality will be attempted in all cases, whenever anything of a political nature shall appear on its pages. But politics will not be allowed to agitate the editorial atmosphere to any great degree. . . ."

Cribbing freely from other newspapers and magazines, the Explorer managed to fill eight pages every week. True to their word, the editors regularly filled page 1 with goings-on about the mines, tonnages, prospects on old and new finds, and mechanical improvements.

The paper made a real effort to appeal to the whole family and exhibit good taste and morals. The second and third pages generally carried fictional stories with an obvious moral content and hints on feminine beauty and hygiene.

There was the usual interest in macabre occurences such as fatal crimes of passion and lovers' quarrels that ended in tragedy. But these items were generally fewer than those of a more light-hearted nature, such as:

"Boston girls much maligned. Don't all wear eyeglasses. Don't all live on Greek roots. Do talk about something beside 'culchah.' Like theaters; like operas; like ice cream same as other girls. Saturday afternoon streets full of pretty girls. . . .

"Ladies (of Boston) would attract attention anywhere. Native dignity evidenced in bearing. Not easy to become acquainted with. When ice is broken, one finds them charming women. . . ."

While avoiding political discussions, the editors did keep their readers up to date on occurences of national pride or tragedy. In June 1885 the paper carried a story about the formal welcome of the Statue of Liberty to Bedloe's Island along with a pen-and-ink drawing of what the piece would look like when finished. The paper mourned with the nation upon the death of Gen. Ulysses S. Grant on July 23, 1885, and sadly noted that he had smoked his last cigar on the previous No. 20.

The paper is the gift of Victor Lemmer of Ironwood, a longtime friend and supporter of the Michigan Historical Collections. After undergoing a laminating process to preserve the fragile pages, the material has been bound and placed on the shelves where researchers may use it.

Bank Suspects Held For Hearing

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Three Jackson State Prison escapees apprehended in Gladstone and charged with possession of stolen money in connection with a bank holdup at Otisville were held under $30,000 bond each Monday after appearing before U.S. Commissioner Stephen Karr.

Held at the Kent County Jail after demanding examinations were Harry Kaczynski Jr., 29, of Detroit, John O'Tremba, 25, of Detroit, and Marvin L. Miller, 37, of Salt Lake City, Utah. Court-appointed attorneys were to be named for the men.

A woman also arrested on a charge of possessing stolen money, Mary Ellen Johnson, 30, of Flint, waived examination and was released on personal recognizance bond.

The four were taken into custody in Gladstone and were driven to Grand Rapids Sunday by state police and FBI agents.

The bank was robbed of $18,000 last week Monday by two gunmen brandishing snub-nosed revolvers. Police said Kaczynski had a .38-caliber pistol with him when apprehended.

Altrusa Club Hears Of Campus Afloat

The Altrusa Club met last night at Halstead's Bayside Park to hear Miss Gail Fawcett of Escanaba, a student selection representative for Chapman College's World Campus Afloat program in international education.

Miss Fawcett's informal account of her 111-day study voyage delighted the audience and stirred in many the desire to take a graduate course with the floating college, an apparent possibility since several of the 525 students enrolled were post-graduates.

Students aboard the SS Rundam are offered a full course of liberal arts subjects with a faculty, 60 per cent of whom have doctorate degrees. The ship is completely equipped for this purpose.

At each port-of-call, students are given a briefing of everything they must know while ashore, are taken on a four hour sight-seeing tour, then turned loose to explore on their own. Back on board, there is a follow-up seminar to discuss and interpret what they have seen.

All world travelers, whether actual or of the arm-chair variety, would chuckle at Miss Fawcett's tales of life aboard ship, particularly at the process of being converted from polliwog to shellback at the equator.

They would be indignant at Apartheid in action as she witnessed it in Cape Town and Durbin and would thrill with her at the two-day safari to a Kenya game preserve.

Her account of the multitudes living, starving, and dying in the streets of India was horrifying. She reports that the trucks come out every morning to pick up the dead and that she saw people scramble to pick up a discarded apple core — perhaps their only food for the day.

Miss Fawcett may be contacted at her home, 710 Lake Shore Drive, by persons interested in knowing more about the study tour program.

hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Your article about putting little butterflies on glass sliding doors to keep friends from walking right through the glass doors amused me. I have been trying to imagine what it would be like to have this "problem."

We have eight children, and with 80 little fingerprints on the loose, our biggest problem with glass sliding doors is being able to see out without opening them!

Dear Heloise:

I often have trouble recognizing my tennis balls at the school courts. So I made some stripes or pumpkin faces on all of them with a felt marking pen. Now my tennis balls are easy to spot.

Dear Heloise:

I am no seamstress, but with three teen-age daughters, I have become a "hemmer-upper."

I have been trying to do this job right but tonight, in desperation, I discovered a simpler and easier way.

I wanted to shorten the skirt of a six-year-old suit which had been shortened a time or two along the way. Now it had to be cut off and new binding sewn on.

Well, the stores were closed and I wanted to wear it that night. So I cut the skirt off and not having the binding, sewed around the rough edge twice in a loose basting stitch on the machine. Then turned it up and hemmed as usual.

Mrs. R. Layne

Just think of the working gals and wives who are going to save time and money using that one. You got a good cranium, honey chile!

'Little' Dinner Party Offers Planked Chops

An elegant dinner for two couples can have as its main course the entree served on a plank. That's a board or a fireproof platter that may be placed in the broiler.

Planked dinners look like the ultimate in dining since the meat is broiled to brown deliciousness and banked with colorful vegetables.

Sirloin lamb chops are well chosen for this kind of dinner because they are meaty. One side of the chops is broiled first, with this side placed down on the plank.

Planked Lamb Chops

Salt

Pepper

2 medium-sized tomatoes, cut in half

¼ cup melted butter or margarine

¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese

3 to 4 cups seasoned mashed potatoes

Place chops on broiler rack and insert broiler rack and pan in broiler so that the top of steaks is 2 to 3 inches from the heat. Broil until steaks are browned on one side, approximately 10 minutes. Season. Remove steaks and place on heated plank or fireproof platter with broiled side down. Place tomato halves around lamb chops. Brush tomatoes with butter or margarine and sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Make a border of mashed potatoes around food on plank. Brush potatoes with melted butter or margarine. Broil to finish cooking meat and to Brown potatoes, about 8 minutes, 4 servings.

MISS KARIN Marie Flannery became the bride of Richard A. Benz during a double ring ceremony performed June 8 at the First Lutheran Church in Gladstone. The Rev. Reuben Carlson heard the exchange of vows. Following a wedding trip to Freeport, Grand Bahama Islands, the newlyweds are residing in Joliet, Ill.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN GALLAGHER of 315 S. 13th St., announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary, to Duane F. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albina Smith of Gladstone. The bride-elect is presently employed at the S. S. Kreske Co. and her fiance is stationed at Guantanomo Bay, Cuba. A November wedding is being planned.

Dear Heloise:

Your article about putting little butterflies on glass sliding doors to keep friends from walking right through the glass doors amused me. I have been trying to imagine what it would be like to have this "problem."

We have eight children, and with 80 little fingerprints on the loose, our biggest problem with glass sliding doors is being able to see out without opening them!

I often have trouble recognizing my tennis balls at the school courts So I made some stripes or pumpkin faces on all of them with a felt marking pen. Now my tennis balls are easy to spot.

Dear Heloise:

I am no seamstress, but with three teen-age daughters, I have become a "hemmer-upper."

I have been trying to do this job right but tonight, in desperation, I discovered a simpler and easier way.

I wanted to shorten the skirt of a six-year-old suit which had been shortened a time or two along the way. Now it had to be cut off and new binding sewn on.

Well, the stores were closed and I wanted to wear it that night. So I cut the skirt off and not having the binding, sewed around the rough edge twice in a loose basting stitch on the machine. Then turned it up and hemmed as usual.

It's easier, faster, cheaper, and who will know? It looks just fine.

Mrs. R. Layne

Just think of the working gals and wives who are going to save time and money using that one. You got a good cranium, honey chile!

'Little' Dinner Party Offers Planked Chops

An elegant dinner for two couples can have as its main course the entree served on a plank. That's a board or a fireproof platter that may be placed in the broiler.

Planked dinners look like the ultimate in dining since the meat is broiled to brown deliciousness and banked with colorful vegetables.

Sirloin lamb chops are well chosen for this kind of dinner because they are meaty. One side of the chops is broiled first, with this side placed down on the plank.

Planked Lamb Chops

Salt

Pepper

2 medium-sized tomatoes, cut in half

¼ cup melted butter or margarine

¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese

3 to 4 cups seasoned mashed potatoes

Place chops on broiler rack and insert broiler rack and pan in broiler so that the top of steaks is 2. to 3 inches from the heat. Broil until steaks are browned on one side, approximately 10 minutes. Season. Remove steaks and place on heated plank or fireproof platter with broiled side down. Place tomato halves around lamb chops. Brush tomatoes with butter or margarine and sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Make a border of mashed potatoes around food on plank. Brush potatoes with melted butter or margarine. Broil to finish cooking meat and to Brown potatoes, about 8 minutes, 4 servings.

Karla Deming Takes Low Medalist Honors

Opening action in the 42nd annual Upper Peninsula Women's Golf Association tournament being held July 15, 16, 17, 18 at the Highland Golf Club in Escanaba, found Karla Deming of the Menominee Riverside club taking medalist honors with a brilliant 83.

Team championship went to the Ishpeming club with Edna Repula, Harriet Rosenbaum, Helen Swanson and Jane LeVine turning in a net total of 383.

Tuesday's opening rounds in the championship flight will find defending champion Linda Uren of Pine Grove, Iron Mountain facing Jane LeVine of Ishpeming; Bev Farrell of Gladstone vs. Elaine Fairchild of Highland; Edna Repula, Ishpeming vs. Carolyn Nelson, Highland; Helen Swanson, Ishpeming vs. Millie Boyce, Esc. Country Club; Karla Deming, Menominee Riverside vs. Gloria Hansley, Esc. Country Club; Rosemary LeMire, Esc. Country Club vs. Elaine Nelson, Highland; Florence Strong, Ontonagon vs. Sally Fountaine, Esc. Country Club and Vicky Beck, Highland vs. Dorothy Coulter, Gladstone.

The tournament drew an entry of 73 golfers who qualified in a 90 degree plus heat. The Highland course is in excellent shape and scores are expected to dip even lower than yesterday's qualifying rounds as the girls become more and more familiar with the greens.

A total of ten clubs from the association are represented including Manistique, Iron Mountain, Norway, Ontonagon, Ishpeming, Menominee Riverside, Portage Lake, Soo Ontario, Escanaba Country Club and Highland.

In a rare mother and daughters' group in the tournament are Mrs. Vicky Beck and her daughters, Mrs. Elaine Nelson and Mrs. Carole Davidson. Mrs. Beck and Mrs. Nelson qualified in the championship flight.

Following Monday's action, the women enjoyed a steak cookout with Bill Fairchild, Einar Beck, and Al Davidson as chefs. Highland club president Hazen Hengesh acted as starter and coordinator for the event and also worked on the opening pairings for Tuesday. Entertainment was provided by the "Whistlers" who include Bob McDonough, Don Scott, Chuck Peltier and Dennis Schneider. Their sensational act was well received by the women.

Angels Take 2nd Straight; Brunet Blanks Tigers, 4-0

ANAHEIM (AP) — "Maybe the Tigers are starting to look over their shoulder," said Manager Bill Rigney after his California Angels scored their second straight victory over Detroit Monday night, 4-0.

Jim Fregosi and Leo Rodriguez each hit a two-run homer in support of George Brunet's five - hit pitching to send the Tigers reeling to their third straight loss. The Tigers have lost four of their five starts since the mid-season all-star break.

Nine days ago, the Tigers led the league by 9½ games and were dreaming of runaway. Now their margin over second-place Baltimore has been reduced to 6½ games and they're only five ahead of the Orioles in the all-important "games lost" column.

"It looks like we might have a pennant race, after all," said Angel Manager Bill Rigney after Monday's victory. "The Tigers still have 13 games to play against Baltimore — and that could decide it all."

Brunet, 9-9, had lost six straight decisions to Detroit. This time he limited them to five singles, three by Al Kaline, and permitted only one runner to advance as far as third base.

The Angels managed only three hits off loser Mickey Lolich, 7-5. But Vic Davalillo was aboard with a double when Fregosi won the game with a third-inning homer, his ninth of the season.

A two-out error by first baseman Kaline set up the two-run homer by Rodriguez in the fourth inning. It was the 20-year-old third baseman's first of the season.

It was these same Angels who knocked the Tigers out of the American League title last year by splitting four games on the final two days of the season in Detroit.

The Tigers are in Oakland tonight to face the surging Athletics. Denny McLain, 17-2, will be on the mound for Detroit, opposing Oakland's Chuck Dobson, 7-8.

Four of those games will be this weekend in Detroit beginning Friday night, a day game Saturday and winding up with a doubleheader Sunday. The following weekend the two clubs meet again, this time in Baltimore, for a three-game series.

Orioles Close Gap With 8-2 Victory

By The Associated Press

When Earl Weaver took over as manager of the Orioles five games ago, he said his club was not out of the race. All five games have been victories and the Orioles are making Weaver look good.

The latest was an 8-2 whitewash of New York.

Baltimore collected only nine hits Monday night but seven different batters drove in the runs. Frank Robinson knocked in the first with a triple and scored on Boog Powell's bunt. Frank scored again on a sacrifice fly by Brooks Robinson and the Orioles added three runs in the sixth.

It should be noted, however, that the five triumphs under Weaver have been against the Senators and Yankees and Baltimore is 20-2 against those two teams under the combined Hank Bauer-Weaver leadership.

Meanwhile, Detroit lost for the fourth time in five games since the All-Star break, bowing to California 4-0. Their American League lead was chopped to 6½ games—five in the loss column —over second-place Baltimore.

Elsewhere, Cleveland nipped Minnesota 4-2, Oakland bombed Boston 12-5 and the Chicago White Sox downed Washington 3-2.

In National League action, St. Louis turned back Los Angeles and Atlanta topped San Francisco by 4-2 scores, Philadelphia whipped the New York Mets 5-3 and the Chicago Cubs beat Pittsburgh 2-1 in 10 innings. The Houston-Cincinnati game was washed out.

Jim Fregosi and Aurelio Rodriguez backed George Brunet's five-hit pitching with two-run homers as California blanked Detroit and swept a two-game series. The Angels managed only three hits but two of them were the homersn both coming with two out.

In the third inning, Vic Davalillo got the Angels's first hit off Mickey Lolich, a double, and Fregosi lined his ninth homer over the fence in left.

Lolich appeared to be out of the fourth inning. But Al Kaline, playing first base, dropped a throw for what would have been the third out and Rodriguez sliced his first homer of the season over the right field fence.

Duke Sims' two-run homer in the third helped Cleveland—only 7½ games back—build an early four-run lead and the Indians needed it as Mike Paul and Stan Williams put down a late Minnesota rally to preserve Sonny Siebert's 10th victory. It was the Twins' 12th loss in 15 games.

Oakland pounded out 17 hits, including home runs by Joe Rudi and Reggie Jackson, in beating the Red Sox and handing Cy Young Award-winner Jim Lonborg, appearing in relief, his third loss. Lonborg has yet to win.

The A's broke the game open with four in the seventh, three on Jackson's 15th homer. Rudi's homer in the fourth was his first in the majors.

The White Sox made it three straight under Al Lopez by edging the Senators, who have lost seven straight and 23 of 29. Tommy Davis singled home two runs in the third inning and Buddy Bradford's sacrifice fly in the fifth broke a 2-2 tie. Luis Aparicio scored the winning run after doubling and taking third on a fly ball.

Allen Socks Two Homers; Phils Win 7th Straight

By The Associated Press

Forty-two ounces that's a lot. Maybe. But they've been hitting the spot for Richie Allen and the Philadelphia Phillies.

Allen, who wields a 42-ounce bat, crashed two homers, good for three runs, Thursday night as the Phillies beat the New York Mets 5-3 for their seventh straight victory since the All-Star break.

"He uses a very heavy bat," says Phillies' Manager Bob Skinner, "but he's so strong he can still whip it through the zone.

In the seven games since the All-Star Game, Allen has whipped his bat through the zone well enough to get 15 hits in 30 at-bats, five homers and 14 RBI. This spree has lifted his season average to .314, with 20 homers and 53 RBI.

While Allen was having a ball with New York pitching, St. Louis was topping Los Angeles 4-2, Chicago was edging Pittsburgh 2-1 in 10 innings and Atlanta was beating San Francisco 4-2 in other National League action. The Houston at Cincinnati game was postponed because of wet grounds.

"He's just swinging the bat super," Skinner says of Allen. "He has a chance to win the Triple Crown and he is on his way to doing that now."

Allen helped his Triple Crown cause in the first inning Monday night by homering with Tony Gonzales on base. He also homered in the fourth to give the Phillies a 3-0 lead and later added a single.

Leading 3-2, the Phillies wrapped up the game in the ninth by scoring twice on Tony Taylor's single and consecutive doubles by John Briggs and Clay Dalrymple.

Mike Shannon's two-run homer, tied the game and pinch hitter Phil Gagliano singled in the winner as league-leading St. Louis won its fifth straight and sent Los Angeles to its fifth consecutive loss.

The key hits by Shannon and Gagliano came in a four-run seventh inning that was climaxed by Lou Brock's RBI double.

Los Angeles took a 2-0 lead when Jim Lefebvre singled home one run and Willie Davis tripled and scored on an error.

Chicago pitcher Ferguson Jenkins sent Pittsburgh to its 10th straight loss by driving in a run with a two-out single in the 10th. The losing streak equals the longest in the Pirates' modern history. The all-time club record is 23 straight in 1890.

Pittsburgh scored in the fourth when Maury Wills doubled and scored on Matty Alou's single. The Cubs tied it in the fifth on Dick Nen's triple and Randy Hundley's single. The winning run was set up when Hundley was hit by a pitch and advanced to second by an infield out.

Atlanta won its fifth straight—the Braves' longest winning string of the season—with the help of three first-inning runs produced by singles by Joe Torre and Tommie Aaron, two walks, a passed ball, wild pitch and an error.

EARL McCULLOUGH, Southern California track star who had been expected to help represent the U. S. track team in the Olympic games at Mexico City this year, poses with Detroit Lions' head coach Joe Schmidt, right, after signing to play with the Lions. McCullough, the Lions' No. 1 draft choice, said he has a family to support and wants to be part of the Lions' organization so he decided to pass up the Olympics to sign with the Detroit football club. (AP Wirephoto)

Rams' Jones Defends McCullough's Decision

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It wouldn't be fair to ask Detroit to give up Earl McCullouch so he could participate in the Olympics, says the Los Angeles Rams, David "Deacon" Jones.

The Rams' defensive end defended the decision by McCullouch, the university of Southern California flanker and brillant runner, to withdraw from the Olympics and sign with the Lions of the National Football League on grounds of financial responsibility to himself and his family.

"He would have lost a year's income that he never could have made up the rest of his life," Jones said. "Who's going to pay him $25,000 in 1968 if Detroit doesn't?

"Who else is making that kind of sacrifice to our Olympic team? When the whole country starts sacrificing to win the Olympics, then you can ask the Detroit Lions to chip in," Jones said.

Both Jones and Tom Landry, coach of the Eastern Conference champion Dallas Cowboys, said McCullouch has to look for an All-Pro player.

"Looking at Detroit's personnel," Jones observed, "I'd say McCullouch changes them from a loser to a contender."

Landry, speaking at the Cowboys' training camp in nearby Thousand Oaks, said: "McCullouch has the potential of greatness. He's like one of our men—Bob Hayes—in two respects.

"He has the unusual speed and he is a football player. That's a powerful combination," Landry said.

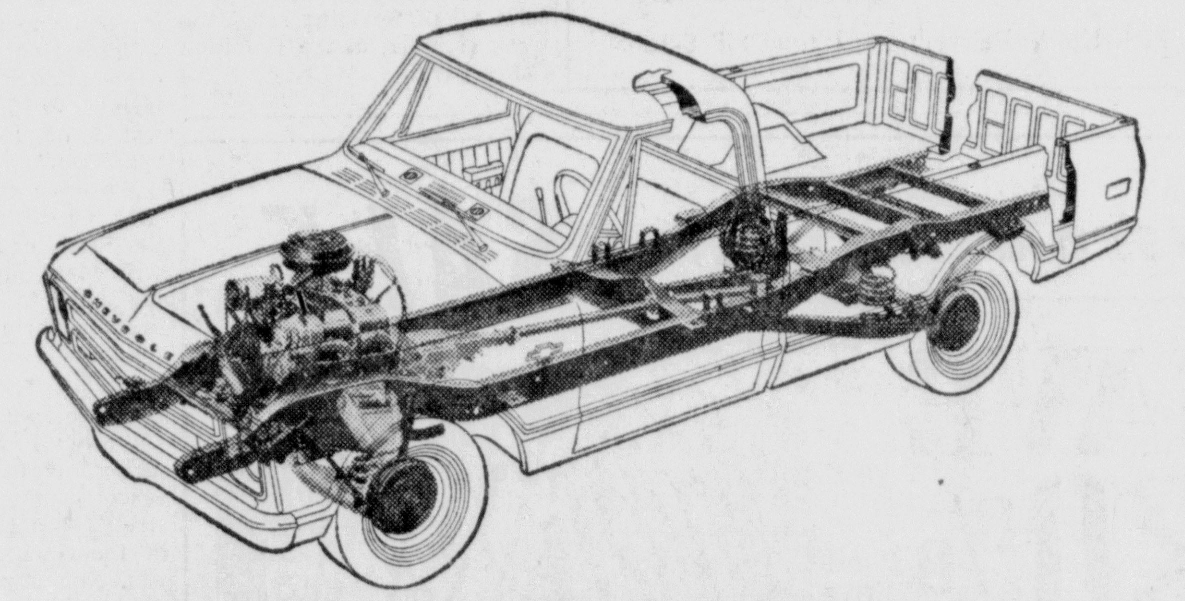
Look into a Chevrolet pickup



See more truck for the money!

Start with the Chevy pickup's frame. If the gauge of the steel seems extra heavy—it is. To make it truck-tough. And notice the solid, tight double walls of the cab.
Next: take a look at the truck-designed coil springs at all four wheels. A Chevrolet exclusive. And the independent front suspension for a ride that's just like a car's.
See how the fender liners are smooth as soup bowls inside. Road splash and dirt run right out.
And check the engine compartment. Power plants go all the way up to 310 horsepower. And Six or V8, they all use regular gas.

Opening action in the 42nd annual Upper Peninsula Women's Golf Association tournament being held July 15, 16, 17, 18 at the Highland Golf Club in Escanaba, found Karla Deming of the Menominee Riverside club taking medalist honors with a brilliant 83.

Team championship went to the Ishpeming club with Edna Repula, Harriet Rosenbaum, Helen Swanson and Jane LeVine turning in a net total of 383.

Tuesday's opening rounds in the championship flight will find defending champion Linda Uren of Pine Grove, Iron Mountain facing Jane LeVine of Ishpeming; Bev Farrell of Gladstone vs. Elaine Fairchild of Highland; Edna Repula, Ishpeming vs. Carolyn Nelson, Highland; Helen Swanson, Ishpeming vs. Millie Boyce, Esc. Country Club; Karla Deming, Menominee Riverside vs. Gloria Hansley, Esc. Country Club; Rosemary LeMire, Esc. Country Club vs. Elaine Nelson, Highland; Florence Strong, Ontonagon vs. Sally Fountaine, Esc. Country Club and Vicky Beck, Highland vs. Dorothy Coulter, Gladstone.

The tournament drew an entry of 73 golfers who qualified in a 90 degree plus heat. The Highland course is in excellent shape and scores are expected to dip even lower than yesterday's qualifying rounds as the girls become more and more familiar with the greens.

A total of ten clubs from the association are represented including Manistique, Iron Mountain, Norway, Ontonagon, Ishpeming, Menominee Riverside, Portage Lake, Soo Ontario, Escanaba Country Club and Highland.

In a rare mother and daughters' group in the tournament are Mrs. Vicky Beck and her daughters, Mrs. Elaine Nelson and Mrs. Carole Davidson. Mrs. Beck and Mrs. Nelson qualified in the championship flight.

Following Monday's action, the women enjoyed a steak cookout with Bill Fairchild, Einar Beck, and Al Davidson as chefs. Highland club president Hazen Hengesh acted as starter and coordinator for the event and also worked on the opening pairings for Tuesday. Entertainment was provided by the "Whistlers" who include Bob McDonough, Don Scott, Chuck Peltier and Dennis Schneider. Their sensational act was well received by the women.

Angels Take 2nd Straight; Brunet Blanks Tigers, 4-0

ANAHEIM (AP) — "Maybe the Tigers are starting to look over their shoulder," said Manager Bill Rigney after his California Angels scored their second straight victory over Detroit Monday night, 4-0.

Jim Fregosi and Leo Rodriguez each hit a two-run homer in support of George Brunet's five - hit pitching to send the Tigers reeling to their third straight loss. The Tigers have lost four of their five starts since the mid-season all-star break.

Nine days ago, the Tigers led the league by 9½ games and were dreaming of runaway. Now their margin over second-place Baltimore has been reduced to 6½ games and they're only five ahead of the Orioles in the all-important "games lost" column.

"It looks like we might have a pennant race, after all," said Angel Manager Bill Rigney after Monday's victory. "The Tigers still have 13 games to play against Baltimore — and that could decide it all."

Brunet, 9-9, had lost six straight decisions to Detroit. This time he limited them to five singles, three by Al Kaline, and permitted only one runner to advance as far as third base.

The Angels managed only three hits off loser Mickey Lolich, 7-5. But Vic Davalillo was aboard with a double when Fregosi won the game with a third-inning homer, his ninth of the season.

A two-out error by first baseman Kaline set up the two-run homer by Rodriguez in the fourth inning. It was the 20-year-old third baseman's first of the season.

It was these same Angels who knocked the Tigers out of the American League title last year by splitting four games on the final two days of the season in Detroit.

The Tigers are in Oakland tonight to face the surging Athletics. Denny McLain, 17-2, will be on the mound for Detroit, opposing Oakland's Chuck Dobson, 7-8.

Four of those games will be this weekend in Detroit beginning Friday night, a day game Saturday and winding up with a doubleheader Sunday. The following weekend the two clubs meet again, this time in Baltimore, for a three-game series.

Orioles Close Gap With 8-2 Victory

By The Associated Press

When Earl Weaver took over as manager of the Orioles five games ago, he said his club was not out of the race. All five games have been victories and the Orioles are making Weaver look good.

The latest was an 8-2 whitewash of New York.

Baltimore collected only nine hits Monday night but seven different batters drove in the runs. Frank Robinson knocked in the first with a triple and scored on Boog Powell's bunt. Frank scored again on a sacrifice fly by Brooks Robinson and the Orioles added three runs in the sixth.

It should be noted, however, that the five triumphs under Weaver have been against the Senators and Yankees and Baltimore is 20-2 against those two teams under the combined Hank Bauer-Weaver leadership.

Meanwhile, Detroit lost for the fourth time in five games since the All-Star break, bowing to California 4-0. Their American League lead was chopped to 6½ games—five in the loss column—over second-place Baltimore.

Elsewhere, Cleveland nipped Minnesota 4-2, Oakland bombed Boston 12-5 and the Chicago White Sox downed Washington 3-2.

In National League action, St. Louis turned back Los Angeles and Atlanta topped San Francisco by 4-2 scores, Philadelphia whipped the New York Mets 5-3 and the Chicago Cubs beat Pittsburgh 2-1 in 10 innings. The Houston-Cincinnati game was washed out.

Jim Fregosi and Aurelio Rodriguez backed George Brunet's five-hit pitching with two-run homers as California blanked Detroit and swept a two-game series. The Angels managed only three hits but two of them were the homersn both coming with two out.

In the third inning, Vic Davalillo got the Angels's first hit off Mickey Lolich, a double, and Fregosi lined his ninth homer over the fence in left.

Lolich appeared to be out of the fourth inning. But Al Kaline, playing first base, dropped a throw for what would have been the third out and Rodriguez sliced his first homer of the season over the right field fence.

Duke Sims' two-run homer in the third helped Cleveland—only 7½ games back—build an early four-run lead and the Indians needed it as Mike Paul and Stan Williams put down a late Minnesota rally to preserve Sonny Siebert's 10th victory. It was the Twins' 12th loss in 15 games.

Oakland pounded out 17 hits, including home runs by Joe Rudi and Reggie Jackson, in beating the Red Sox and handing Cy Young Award-winner Jim Lonborg, appearing in relief, his third loss. Lonborg has yet to win.

The A's broke the game open with four in the seventh, three on Jackson's 15th homer. Rudi's homer in the fourth was his first in the majors.

The White Sox made it three straight under Al Lopez by edging the Senators, who have lost seven straight and 23 of 29. Tommy Davis singled home two runs in the third inning and Buddy Bradford's sacrifice fly in the fifth broke a 2-2 tie. Luis Aparicio scored the winning run after doubling and taking third on a fly ball.

Allen Socks Two Homers; Phils Win 7th Straight

By The Associated Press

Forty-two ounces that's a lot. Maybe. But they've been hitting the spot for Richie Allen and the Philadelphia Phillies.

Allen, who wields a 42-ounce bat, crashed two homers, good for three runs, Thursday night as the Phillies beat the New York Mets 5-3 for their seventh straight victory since the All-Star break.

"He uses a very heavy bat," says Phillies' Manager Bob Skinner, "but he's so strong he can still whip it through the zone.

In the seven games since the All-Star Game, Allen has whipped his bat through the zone well enough to get 15 hits in 30 at-bats, five homers and 14 RBI. This spree has lifted his season average to .314, with 20 homers and 53 RBI.

While Allen was having a ball with New York pitching, St. Louis was topping Los Angeles 4-2, Chicago was edging Pittsburgh 2-1 in 10 innings and Atlanta was beating San Francisco 4-2 in other National League action. The Houston at Cincinnati game was postponed because of wet grounds.

"He's just swinging the bat super," Skinner says of Allen. "He has a chance to win the Triple Crown and he is on his way to doing that now."

Allen helped his Triple Crown cause in the first inning Monday night by homering with Tony Gonzales on base. He also homered in the fourth to give the Phillies a 3-0 lead and later added a single.

Leading 3-2, the Phillies wrapped up the game in the ninth by scoring twice on Tony Taylor's single and consecutive doubles by John Briggs and Clay Dalrymple.

Mike Shannon's two-run homer, tied the game and pinch hitter Phil Gagliano singled in the winner as league-leading St. Louis won its fifth straight and sent Los Angeles to its fifth consecutive loss.

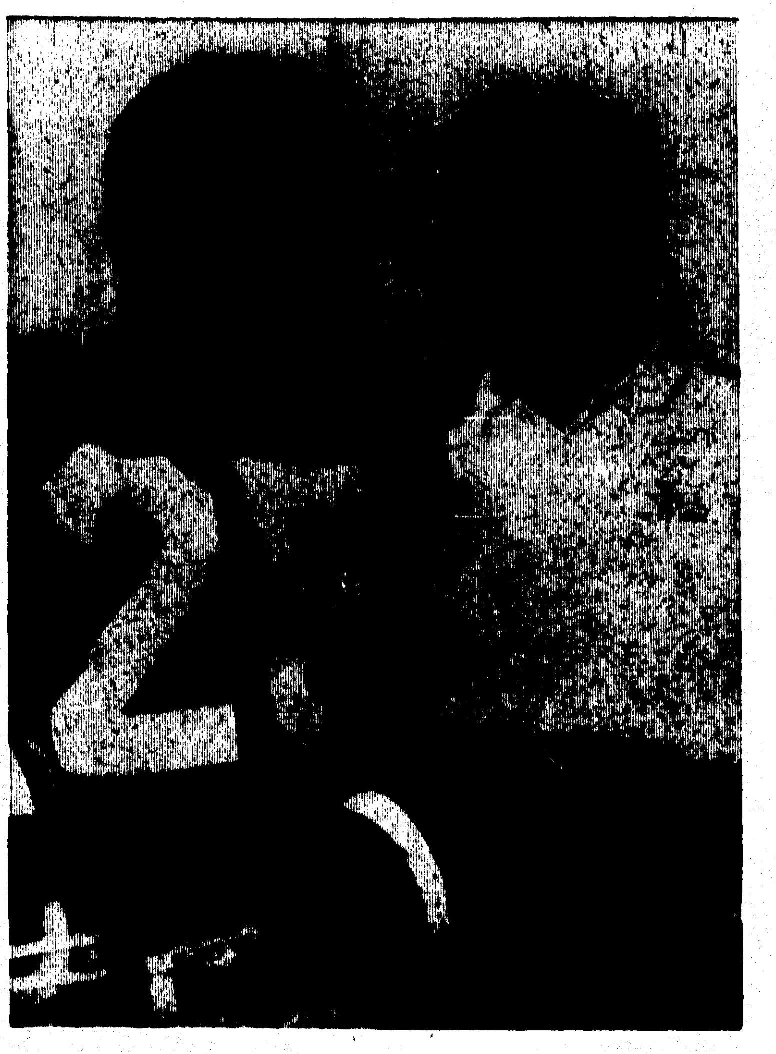
The key hits by Shannon and Gagliano came in a four-run seventh inning that was climaxed by Lou Brock's RBI double.

Los Angeles took a 2-0 lead when Jim Lefebvre singled home one run and Willie Davis tripled and scored on an error.

Chicago pitcher Ferguson Jenkins sent Pittsburgh to its 10th straight loss by driving in a run with a two-out single in the 10th. The losing streak equals the longest in the Pirates' modern history. The all-time club record is 23 straight in 1890.

Pittsburgh scored in the fourth when Maury Wills doubled and scored on Matty Alou's single. The Cubs tied it in the fifth on Dick Nen's triple and Randy Hundley's single. The winning run was set up when Hundley was hit by a pitch and advanced to second by an infield out.

Atlanta won its fifth straight—the Braves' longest winning string of the season—with the help of three first-inning runs produced by singles by Joe Torre and Tommie Aaron, two walks, a passed ball, wild pitch and an error.



EARL McCULLOUGH, Southern California track star who had been expected to help represent the U. S. track team in the Olympic games at Mexico City this year, poses with Detroit Lions' head coach Joe Schmidt, right, after signing to play with the Lions. McCullough, the Lions' No. 1 draft choice, said he has a family to support and wants to be part of the Lions' organization so he decided to pass up the Olympics to sign with the Detroit football club. # Rams' Jones Defends McCullough's Decision

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It wouldn't be fair to ask Detroit to give up Earl McCullouch so he could participate in the Olympics, says the Los Angeles Rams, David "Deacon" Jones.

The Rams' defensive end defended the decision by McCullouch, the university of Southern California flanker and brillant runner, to withdraw from the Olympics and sign with the Lions of the National Football League on grounds of financial responsibility to himself and his family.

"He would have lost a year's income that he never could have made up the rest of his life," Jones said. "Who's going to pay him $25,000 in 1968 if Detroit doesn't?

"Who else is making that kind of sacrifice to our Olympic team? When the whole country starts sacrificing to win the Olympics, then you can ask the Detroit Lions to chip in," Jones said.

Both Jones and Tom Landry, coach of the Eastern Conference champion Dallas Cowboys, said McCullouch has to look for an All-Pro player.

"Looking at Detroit's personnel," Jones observed, "I'd say McCullouch changes them from a loser to a contender."

Landry, speaking at the Cowboys' training camp in nearby Thousand Oaks, said: "McCullouch has the potential of greatness. He's like one of our men—Bob Hayes—in two respects.

"He has the unusual speed and he is a football player. That's a powerful combination," Landry said.

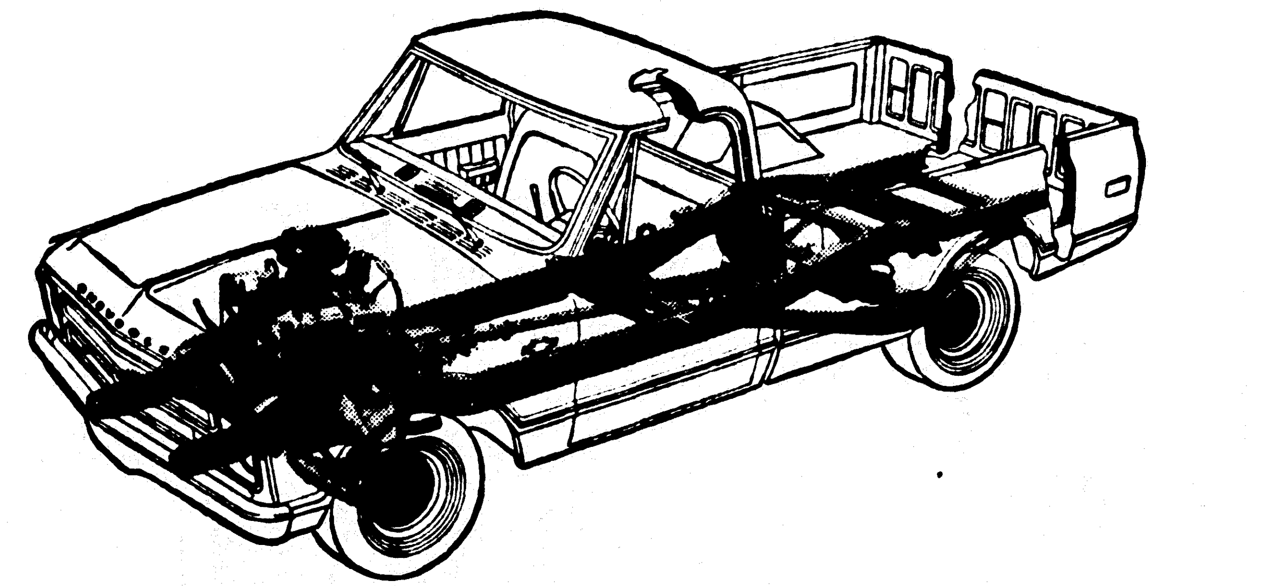
Look into a Chevrolet pickup



See more truck for the money!

Start with the Chevy pickup's frame. If the gauge of the steel seems extra heavy—it is. To make it truck-tough. And notice the solid, tight double walls of the cab.

Next: take a look at the truck-designed coil springs at all four wheels. A Chevrolet exclusive. And the independent front suspension for a ride that's just like a car's.

See how the fender liners are smooth as soup bowls inside. Road splash and dirt run right out.

And check the engine compartment. Power plants go all the way up to 310 horsepower. And Six or V8, they all use regular gas.

Pickups built this strong ought to be looked into. Your Chevrolet dealer's the man to see—today.

All AL Hitters Drop Below .300

NEW YORK (AP) — The American League, staggered by six straight All-Star defeats and losers of four of the last five World Series, hung its head again Monday morning—without a single .300 hitter.

Ken Harrelson and Carl Yastrzemski, the two Boston Red Sox sluggers who had kept the league above water last week, slipped below the magic circle in averages including Sunday's games.

In sharp contrast, the National League had 10 men hitting .307 or better.

Yaz collected only one hit in 15 trips during the week, and slipped 13 points from .302 to .289.

Harrelson, the leader a week ago, came up with only two hits in 15 at bats, lost 10 points and fell from .307 to .297.

Rick Monday of the Oakland A's shares the lead with Harrelson at .297 although he, too, lost a point with four for 14.

Unless somebody gets hot soon, the all-time low average for an American League batting champion, Elmer Flick's .306 for Cleveland in 1905, is in danger.

Rod Carew of Minnesota was the only hitter to make any real progress among the American League leaders. He picked up seven points to .293 with four hits in nine at bats.

While the American Leaguers were floundering the Nationals continued to hit the ball. Pete Rose of Cincinnati, out of action due to a broken finger, is leading the league with .329, followed by Matty Alou of Pittsburgh, .328 despite a 16-point drop.

Curt Flood, batting at a .435 clip during the week, raised his third-place mark to .323. Roberto Pena, Philadelphia's surprising shortstop, moved up seven points to .315 and fourth place. Alex Johnson of Cincinnati also picked up seven points and surged to .311.

The big thumper of the week was Richie Allen of the Phillies with 12 hits in 26 trips (a .462 pace). He moved into the top ten at .308. Among Allen's 12 hits were three homers, a triple and two doubles.

The only other newcomer in the National's Top Ten was Jerry Grote of the New York Mets who had eight for 14 and advanced 16 points to .307

Willie McCovey of San Francisco continued to show the way with 22 homers and 58 runs batted in. Frank Howard of AL Washington also held his leads with 26 homers and 63 RBI.

NFL Officially Back To Work After Strike

By The Associated Press

The National Football League players were back at work—officially— today, the bargaining table behind them and the bumps and bruises ahead of them.

There was general satisfaction among the veterans and the coaches when they got together Monday for the first time since the settlement of the dispute between players and owners that had threatened the 1968 season.

"I believe if our demands weren't justified, the settlement wouldn't have happened so fast," said Green Bay quarterback Bart Starr.

"Everyone is happy to get the type of settlement we got," added defensive lineman Jim Weatherwax, who served as coach last week while the veterans worked out unofficially on their own after being barred from the Packers' camp.

Seventeen veterans, who also had been working on their own, showed up in shape at the New Orleans Saints camp in San Diego, and Coach Tom Fears called them "a group of dedicated athletes."

But there were others who had some second thoughts, especially about the manner in which agreement was reached.

"What was accomplished was pretty good," said Pittsburgh linebacker Andy Russell. "But I have reservations about the method. I hope it didn't set a patern. I don't want to see it revert to the level of a union-management relationship."

Teammate Roy Jefferson, a flanker, agreed, adding in the future "we'll have to get together early in the off season and sit down and talk over these things and understand everything completely."

Several veterans, anxious to get to work, showed up ahead of schedule. Quarterback Johnny Unitas headed a group of veterans that reported two days early to the Baltimore Colts' camp at Westminster, Md.

And in Johnson City, Tenn., quarterback Randy Johnson was an early arrival at the Atlanta Falcons' camp.

Fifteen veterans checked into the Detroit Lions' camp, but John Gordy didn't make it. Gordy, head of the NFL Players Association, was held up in New York with some last-minute paper work dealing with Sunday night's settlement of the dispute.

He was, however, expected to report late today.

Sixteen veterans reported to the Los Angeles Rams' camp at Fullerton, Calif., with the rest of the squad expected by Wednesday.

Toledo Extends Lead Over Wings

By The Associated Press

If the Toledo Mud Hens win the International League pennant, they can chalk it up to their ability of dealing with the runner-up Rochester Red Wings.

The Mud Hens stretched their league lead to 1½ games Monday night with an 8-2 victory over the Red Wins — their seventh in nine meetings this season with Rochester.

Other action saw the Columbus Jets outlast the Jacksonville Mets 10-9, the Buffalo Bisons edge the Syracuse Chiefs 6-5 and the Louisville Colonels trounce the Richmond Braves 7-4.

The victory over Rochester was the Mud Hens' fifth straight in a sudden spurt that has brought them from 2½ games off the pace into a lead that will stand up at least through tonight's series windup at Rochester.

Winning pitcher Jim Rooker delivered a run-scoring single that snapped a 2-2 deadlock in the ninth inning. Toledo scored six runs in the inning with a five-hit assault on three Red Wing pitchers. Rooker, 9-2, allowed eight hits and struck out 10 in eight innings.

Down 8-3 after Jacksonville scored six runs in the fifth inning, Columbus rallied for four runs in the seventh and three in the ninth. Bernie Smith's bases-loaded double tied the score in the ninth, and the winning run scored when the ball got away from Met left fielder Tommie Reynolds.

Jose Calero hit a two-run homer that propelled Louisville to a 4-3 lead over Richmond in the sixth inning, and Bobby Mitchell belted a three-run roundripper that broke a 4-4 tie in the eighth.

A two-run homer by Hank Allen in the fourth inning proved decisive in Buffalo's victory over Syracuse. Hawk Taylor and Tom Shopay drove in two runs apiece for the Chiefs.

Colavito Signs With Yankees

BALTIMORE (AP) — Rocky Colavito, a Bronx boy who found fame in Cleveland and Detroit, finally became a New York Yankee Monday in his 18th year of professional baseball.

The Yankees signed Colavito as a free agent after he had been cut loose by the Los Angeles Dodgers who bought him from the Chicago White Sox last March.

In all, Rocky played with four different American League teams and in the National before his latest step.

To get a Yankee contract, the 34-year-old slugger volunteered to help out the Yankees' bullpen as a part time relief pitcher as well as an outfielder and pinch hitter.

He was hitting only .204 when the Dodgers cut him loose last week. However, he has hit 369 home runs in the majors, three of them this season.

Among the high spots of his career was the feat of hitting four homers in one game for Cleveland, June 10, 1959. He also hit four for Detroit in a 1961 doubleheader. In 1959 he tied Harmon Killebrew for the American League homer title with 42 and in 1965 he led the league with 108 RBI for Cleveland.

All AL Hitters Drop Below .300

NEW YORK (AP) — The American League, staggered by six straight All-Star defeats and losers of four of the last five World Series, hung its head again Monday morning—without a single .300 hitter.

Ken Harrelson and Carl Yastrzemski, the two Boston Red Sox sluggers who had kept the league above water last week, slipped below the magic circle in averages including Sunday's games.

In sharp contrast, the National League had 10 men hitting .307 or better.

Yaz collected only one hit in 15 trips during the week, and slipped 13 points from .302 to .289.

Harrelson, the leader a week ago, came up with only two hits in 15 at bats, lost 10 points and fell from .307 to .297.

Rick Monday of the Oakland A's shares the lead with Harrelson at .297 although he, too, lost a point with four for 14.

Unless somebody gets hot soon, the all-time low average for an American League batting champion, Elmer Flick's .306 for Cleveland in 1905, is in danger.

Rod Carew of Minnesota was the only hitter to make any real progress among the American League leaders. He picked up seven points to .288 with four hits in nine at bats.

While the American Leaguers were floundering the Nationals continued to hit the ball. Pete Rose of Cincinnati, out of action due to a broken finger, is leading the league with .329, followed by Matty Alou of Pittsburgh, .328 despite a 16-point drop.

Curt Flood, batting at a .435 clip during the week, raised his third-place mark to .323. Roberto Pena, Philadelphia's surprising shortstop, moved up seven points to .315 and fourth place. Alex Johnson of Cincinnati also picked up seven points and surged to .311.

The big thumper of the week was Richie Allen of the Phillies with 12 hits in 26 trips (a .462 pace). He moved into the top ten at .308. Among Allen's 12 hits were three homers, a triple and two doubles.

The only other newcomer in the National's Top Ten was Jerry Grote of the New York Mets who had eight for 14 and advanced 16 points to .307

Willie McCovey of San Francisco continued to show the way with 22 homers and 58 runs batted in. Frank Howard of AL Washington also held his leads with 26 homers and 63 RBI.

NFL Officially Back To Work After Strike

By The Associated Press

The National Football League players were back at work—officially— today, the bargaining table behind them and the bumps and bruises ahead of them.

There was general satisfaction among the veterans and the coaches when they got together Monday for the first time since the settlement of the dispute between players and owners that had threatened the 1968 season.

"I believe if our demands weren't justified, the settlement wouldn't have happened so fast," said Green Bay quarterback Bart Starr.

"Everyone is happy to get the type of settlement we got," added defensive lineman Jim Weatherwax, who served as coach last week while the veterans worked out unofficially on their own after being barred from the Packers' camp.

Seventeen veterans, who also had been working on their own, showed up in shape at the New Orleans Saints camp in San Diego, and Coach Tom Fears called them "a group of dedicated athletes."

But there were others who had some second thoughts, especially about the manner in which agreement was reached.

"What was accomplished was pretty good," said Pittsburgh linebacker Andy Russell. "But I have reservations about the method. I hope it didn't set a patern. I don't want to see it revert to the level of a union-management relationship."

Teammate Roy Jefferson, a flanker, agreed, adding in the future "we'll have to get together early in the off season and sit down and talk over these things and understand everything completely."

Several veterans, anxious to get to work, showed up ahead of schedule. Quarterback Johnny Unitas headed a group of veterans that reported two days early to the Baltimore Colts' camp at Westminster, Md.

And in Johnson City, Tenn., quarterback Randy Johnson was an early arrival at the Atlanta Falcons' camp.

Fifteen veterans checked into the Detroit Lions' camp, but John Gordy didn't make it. Gordy, head of the NFL Players Association, was held up in New York with some last-minute paper work dealing with Sunday night's settlement of the dispute.

He was, however, expected to report late today.

Sixteen veterans reported to the Los Angeles Rams' camp at Fullerton, Calif., with the rest of the squad expected by Wednesday.

Toledo Extends Lead Over Wings

By The Associated Press

If the Toledo Mud Hens win the International League pennant, they can chalk it up to their ability of dealing with the runner - up Rochester Red Wings.

The Mud Hens stretched their league lead to 1½ games Monday night with an 8-2 victory over the Red Wins — their seventh in nine meetings this season with Rochester.

Other action saw the Columbus Jets outlast the Jacksonville Mets 10-9, the Buffalo Bisons edge the Syracuse Chiefs 6-5 and the Louisville Colonels trounce the Richmond Braves 7-4.

The victory over Rochester was the Mud Hens' fifth straight in a sudden spurt that has brought them from 2½ games off the pace into a lead that will stand up at least through tonight's series windup at Rochester.

Winning pitcher Jim Rooker delivered a run-scoring single that snapped a 2-2 deadlock in the ninth inning. Toledo scored six runs in the inning with a five-hit assault on three Red Wing pitchers. Rooker, 9-2, allowed eight hits and struck out 10 in eight innings.

Down 8-3 after Jacksonville scored six runs in the fifth inning, Columbus rallied for four runs in the seventh and three in the ninth. Bernie Smith's bases-loaded double tied the score in the ninth, and the winning run scored when the ball got away from Met left fielder Tommie Reynolds.

Jose Calero hit a two-run homer that propelled Louisville to a 4-3 lead over Richmond in the sixth inning, and Bobby Mitchell belted a three-run roundripper that broke a 4-4 tie in the eighth.

A two-run homer by Hank Allen in the fourth inning proved decisive in Buffalo's victory over Syracuse. Hawk Taylor and Tom Shopay drove in two runs apiece for the Chiefs.

Colavito Signs With Yankees

BALTIMORE (AP) — Rocky Colavito, a Bronx boy who found fame in Cleveland and Detroit, finally became a New York Yankee Monday in his 18th year of professional baseball.

The Yankees signed Colavito as a free agent after he had been cut loose by the Los Angeles Dodgers who bought him from the Chicago White Sox last March.

In all, Rocky played with four different American League teams and in the National before his latest step.

To get a Yankee contract, the 34-year-old slugger volunteered to help out the Yankees' bullpen as a part time relief pitcher as well as an outfielder and pinch hitter.

He was hitting only .204 when the Dodgers cut him loose last week. However, he has hit 369 home runs in the majors, three of them this season.

Among the high spots of his career was the feat of hitting four homers in one game for Cleveland, June 10, 1959. He also hit four for Detroit in a 1961 doubleheader. In 1959 he tied Harmon Killebrew for the American League homer title with 42 and in 1965 he led the league with 108 RBI for Cleveland.

THE NATIONAL REPORT ON WHAT'S HAPPENING

Hotline Hangups: Listening Service for teen-agers is latest counseling gimmick. Pilot program on West Coast is "open" from 6 p. m. to 12 p. m. daily and from 6 p. m. to 4 a. m. Fridays and Saturdays. Answering service has been swamped with calls. Truly a "listening concept of hangup therapy! Not authoritarian at all. Private citizens are volunteer "listeners." Problems range from drugs and the draft to pregnancy, venereal disease and racial dilemmas. Most are genuine and sincere. Put-ons are transparent. The phone corps plays along with the phoneys. Their reasoning: Underneath the insincerity there COULD be a real problem. "How to make friends" is a big subject for discourse. Existential-type anxiety calls are common. ("I don't know who I am or where I'm going!") Whole scene has merit galore.

* * *

Protest The Protest: College students' protests may be losing their credibility. Academic freedom no longer the issue. Minorities are demanding the right to set themselves up as authorities on what is educationally permissible. Colleges and universities are not institutions for revolutionary social change any more than instruments for preservation of "the establishment." The university must encourage rational study — past, present and future. Some "protest" movements today are attempts to usurp the power of the faculty to establish the ground rules for preservation of academic freedom itself. Irresponsible protesters aren't helping the generation yap gap. Calmer, nonmilitant students are suffering and should launch their own counter-protests. Yet, student unrest should not be discounted by university administrators. Many concerned young men and women are seriously questioning their education's "relevance" — and may very well have a point.

* * *

Ill-Will A Teen Must? Survey of 2,000 Midwest teens reveals interesting directions: (1) Hostility peaks out among normal boys in their sophomore year in high school. (2) Girls who have a hostility crisis usually work up a big hate at age 18. (3) Mothers of 13-year-old girls with hate hangups should feel lucky that the problem doesn't come along later.

* * *

Case Against Refined Sugar: Dental study of teens in Norway reveals startling drop in tooth decay during German occupation of 1940-45. Teens then needed only 20 per cent as much dental work as before and after the period. Sugar was severely rationed and frequently unobtainable. Further, Swiss studies of men who couldn't eat sugar because of an enzyme lack seem to confirm the cavity capacity of raw sugar.

* * *

Bearded Lions: Someone once said, "If you think to grow a beard is to acquire wisdom, a goat is at once a complete Plato." Beards have become a "badge of creativity." Trouble is, so many noncreative people are sporting them these days that the symbol has a hollow ring and look! Sideburns are taking up the slack with teen boys. Many high schools that frown upon beard wearing and growing (contests) encourage sideburn competition. Warning to such "educators": Whispers have a creepy way about them. Today's sideburns are tomorrow's Van Dyke.

* *

Trivia To Ponder: Among car buffs who really know what's shaking, guess what car is top on the list of used "in" cars? The '57 Chevy Bel-Air hardtop — come to think of it, they are all over the place.

VISTAs Wonder Why Peninsulans Are Apologetic?

Two VISTA trainees told the Rotary Club Monday noon of their hopes for helping the people of this area and their awareness of the problems they face during their year of volunteer service in Schoolcraft County.

"Are we idealistic fools? We don't think so," began Jerry Abrams, "but maybe we're optimistic ones. An idealist is one who thinks he knows the problems and even more positive he has the right answers. An optimist is one who knows there are problems and knows that he, with the help of others, might someday solve them," he added.

Explaining that VISTA is designed to fight poverty at the grass roots level by enlisting the help of the community to solve its own problems, he told Rotary that "our objective is to aid—in whatever way we can—the unproductive members of society and help them in their return to the mainstream of responsibility."

U. P. Inferiority Complex?

"We know that we alone cannot solve our nation's problems but someone must try. One alone might not succeed but collectively we have a chance," Abrams continued.

Jan Strasma, the other VISTA worker, commented on the self-image the people of the Upper Peninsula seem to project.

"People seem to have an inferiority complex about this place. They ask us 'How do you like it up here?' implying that we probably don't, and others joke about conditions such as the weather by remarking that 'We have 10 months of winter and two months of poor sledding'. Others are quick to tell us their history and seem not particularly proud of their heritage but rather as an explanation of 'Why we are the way we are,' " he explained.

Strasma said he and Abrams will be working primarily in programs already existing for the next three weeks. This would include Tot Lot and Pep Lot, Headstart, and Senior Citizens. Later they plan to begin recruiting for the adult education program which will begin again in the fall.

Work With CAP

The men detailed the three fields they expect to concentrate on after their training period: continuing support of programs like Headstart; outreaching the existing programs by becoming salesmen for the programs—telling people how they may benefit, etc.; and helping those communities and families in the rural areas which cannot take advantage of programs available in the city of Manistique.

Abrams and Strasma arrived in Manistique two weeks ago and are working under the supervision of Supt. Edwin E. Wuehle of the Manistique Area Schools and the Menominee-Delta-Schoolcraft Community Action Agency. Abrams is a native of New Jersey and Strasma is from Illinois. Both are college graduates: Abrams is a government major and pre-law graduate of Franklin Marshall College in Pennsylvania and Strasma is a graduate of DePauw University in Indiana and holds a M. A. from Columbia University in journalism.

Wuehle introduced the two men and made a few brief remarks summarizing the philosophy of the VISTA corps and the general background of its inception.

THE NATIONAL REPORT ON WHAT'S HAPPENING

Hotline Hangups: Listening Service for teen-agers is latest counseling gimmick. Pilot program on West Coast is "open" from 6 p. m. to 12 p. m. daily and from 6 p. m. to 4 a. m. Fridays and Saturdays. Answering service has been swamped with calls. Truly a "listening concept of hangup therapy! Not authoritarian at all. Private citizens are volunteer "listeners." Problems range from drugs and the draft to pregnancy, venereal disease and racial dilemmas. Most are genuine and sincere. Put-ons are transparent. The phone corps plays along with the phoneys. Their reasoning: Underneath the insincerity there COULD be a real problem. "How to make friends" is a big subject for discourse. Existential-type anxiety calls are common. ("I don't know who I am or where I'm going!") Whole scene has merit galore.

* * *

Protest The Protest: College students' protests may be losing their credibility. Academic freedom no longer the issue. Minorities are demanding the right to set themselves up as authorities on what is educationally permissible. Colleges and universities are not institutions for revolutionary social change any more than instruments for preservation of "the establishment." The university must encourage rational study — past, present and future. Some "protest" movements today are attempts to usurp the power of the faculty to establish the ground rules for preservation of academic freedom itself. Irresponsible protesters aren't helping the generation yap gap. Calmer, nonmilitant students are suffering and should launch their own counter-protests. Yet, student unrest should not be discounted by university administrators. Many concerned young men and women are seriously questioning their education's "relevance" — and may very well have a point.

Ill-Will A Teen Must? Survey of 2,000 Midwest teens reveals interesting directions: (1) Hostility peaks out among normal boys in their sophomore year in high school. (2) Girls who have a hostility crisis usually work up a big hate at age 18. (3) Mothers of 13-year-old girls with hate hangups should feel lucky that the problem doesn't come along later.

* * *

Case Against Refined Sugar: Dental study of teens in Norway reveals startling drop in tooth decay during German occupation of 1940-45. Teens then needed only 20 per cent as much dental work as before and after the period. Sugar was severely rationed and frequently unobtainable. Further, Swiss studies of men who couldn't eat sugar because of an enzyme lack seem to confirm the cavity capacity of raw sugar.

* * *

Bearded Lions: Someone once said, "If you think to grow a beard is to acquire wisdom, a goat is at once a complete Plato." Beards have become a "badge of creativity." Trouble is, so many noncreative people are sporting them these days that the symbol has a hollow ring and look! Sideburns are taking up the slack with teen boys. Many high schools that frown upon beard wearing and growing (contests) encourage sideburn competition. Warning to such "educators": Whispers have a creepy way about them. Today's sideburns are tomorrow's Van Dyke.

Trivia To Ponder: Among car buffs who really know what's shaking, guess what car is top on the list of used "in" cars? The '57 Chevy Bel-Air hardtop — come to think of it, they are all over the place.

VISTAs Wonder Why Peninsulans Are Apologetic?

Two VISTA trainees told the Rotary Club Monday noon of their hopes for helping the people of this area and their awareness of the problems they face during their year of volunteer service in Schoolcraft County.

"Are we idealistic fools? We don't think so," began Jerry Abrams, "but maybe we're optimistic ones. An idealist is one who thinks he knows the problems and even more positive he has the right answers. An optimist is one who knows there are problems and knows that he, with the help of others, might someday solve them," he added.

Explaining that VISTA is designed to fight poverty at the grass roots level by enlisting the help of the community to solve its own problems, he told Rotary that "our objective is to aid—in whatever way we can—the unproductive members of society and help them in their return to the mainstream of responsibility."

U. P. Inferiority Complex?

"We know that we alone cannot solve our nation's problems but someone must try. One alone might not succeed but collectively we have a chance," Abrams continued.

Jan Strasma, the other VISTA worker, commented on the self-image the people of the Upper Peninsula seem to project.

"People seem to have an inferiority complex about this place. They ask us 'How do you like it up here?' implying that we probably don't, and others joke about conditions such as the weather by remarking that 'We have 10 months of winter and two months of poor sledding'. Others are quick to tell us their history and seem not particularly proud of their heritage but rather as an explanation of 'Why we are the way we are,' " he explained.

Strasma said he and Abrams will be working primarily in programs already existing for the next three weeks. This would include Tot Lot and Pep Lot, Headstart, and Senior Citizens. Later they plan to begin recruiting for the adult education program which will begin again in the fall.

Work With CAP

The men detailed the three fields they expect to concentrate on after their training period: continuing support of programs like Headstart; outreaching the existing programs by becoming salesmen for the programs—telling people how they may benefit, etc.; and helping those communities and families in the rural areas which cannot take advantage of programs available in the city of Manistique.

Abrams and Strasma arrived in Manistique two weeks ago and are working under the supervision of Supt. Edwin E. Wuehle of the Manistique Area Schools and the Menominee-Delta-Schoolcraft Community Action Agency. Abrams is a native of New Jersey and Strasma is from Illinois. Both are college graduates: Abrams is a government major and pre-law graduate of Franklin Marshall College in Pennsylvania and Strasma is a graduate of DePauw University in Indiana and holds a M. A. from Columbia University in journalism.

Wuehle introduced the two men and made a few brief remarks summarizing the philosophy of the VISTA corps and the general background of its inception.

Police, Negroes Exchange Roles

NEW YORK (AP) — The raw nerve of antagonism and distrust between Negroes and the police was revealed Monday night in the airing by ABC of a project in Houston, Tex., aimed at achieving a better understanding.

The network took its cameras into a session in which Negroes and policemen confronted each other with their real feelings and attitudes.

One Negro complained that police apply double standards. Particularly irksome to him, he said, was that "they always say, 'Come here boy,' or 'Come here nigger.' That isn't the kind of thing that makes a teen-ager respect the police."

A policeman said he felt his attitude toward anyone he stopped was not influenced by the person's politics, or religion or race. "There is no reason that I'm going to give a person a hard time just because he's black and I'm white," he said. "I think generally most police officers practice their job this way."

Besides direct confrontation, psychological methods were employed and one of the most revealing was the psychodrama in which the police and Negroes exchanged roles.

A policeman assumed the identity of a 15-year-old boy and a Negro played the part of a policeman. Two group leaders stood by to reveal what each must be thinking.

In the first skit the policeman-Negro played the role as he thought a white policeman would really do it. He called the youngster "boy" and treated him brusquely. Then he showed how it really should be done and this time he called him "son" and was more gentle and understanding.

Asked afterwards how he felt the first time, the policeman who played the youngsters, said, "I felt sort of pushed around."

Reynolds said that although the effectiveness of the project was difficult to assess, Houston's leaders felt encouraged that it may lead to some progress.

Police, Negroes Exchange Roles

NEW YORK (AP) — The raw nerve of antagonism and distrust between Negroes and the police was revealed Monday night in the airing by ABC of a project in Houston, Tex., aimed at achieving a better understanding.

The network took its cameras into a session in which Negroes and policemen confronted each other with their real feelings and attitudes.

One Negro complained that police apply double standards. Particularly irksome to him, he said, was that "they always say, 'Come here boy,' or 'Come here nigger.' That isn't the kind of thing that makes a teen-ager respect the police."

A policeman said he felt his attitude toward anyone he stopped was not influenced by the person's politics, or religion or race. "There is no reason that I'm going to give a person a hard time just because he's black and I'm white," he said. "I think generally most police officers practice their job this way."

Besides direct confrontation, psychological methods were employed and one of the most revealing was the psychodrama in which the police and Negroes exchanged roles.

A policeman assumed the identity of a 15-year-old boy and a Negro played the part of a policeman. Two group leaders stood by to reveal what each must be thinking.

In the first skit the policeman-Negro played the role as he thought a white policeman would really do it. He called the youngster "boy" and treated him brusquely. Then he showed how it really should be done and this time he called him "son" and was more gentle and understanding.

Asked afterwards how he felt the first time, the policeman who played the youngsters, said, "I felt sort of pushed around."

Reynolds said that although the effectiveness of the project was difficult to assess, Houston's leaders felt encouraged that it may lead to some progress.
